THIRD WELL—Workers were busy Wednesday testing the output of a third well that will be workable in 30 days to allow for a better raw water supply for the city. The Public Utilities Board okayed the drilling of the 20-inch well. Workmen drilled 125 feet to find a water supply that is expected to exceed 1,500 gallons of water per minute.

Ford To Make Public Plea For Indochina Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is expected to ask Congress in a major foreign policy speech tonight for more humanitarian and military aid for besieged Indochina.

In his address to a joint session of Congress, Ford will appeal for a bipartisan approach to foreign policy and ask for "a strong working relationship" with Congress on international matters.

Ford's speech will be broadcast by major television and radio networks beginning at 9 p.m. EDT. House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said Ford told 16 congressional leaders the address would be the most serious that he as President will ever make to Congress.

As Ford worked Wednesday on revisions in his text, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen acknowledged that the Nixon administration promised South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu in "confidential exchanges" that the United States would "react vigorously to major violations" of the 1973 Paris peace accords.

After Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., asked for an investigation of exactly what those exchanges embodied, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield indicated that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the Armed Services Committee would look into the matter.

Jackson had asserted that "secret agreements" existed between Washington and Saigon. Just hours after Nessen described the communications as "confidential exchanges," Ford was telling bipartisan congressional leaders that there were no "secret agreements" involved.

Nessen, asked if Nixon had envisioned renewed U.S. military intervention in Vietnam, said: "I just don't have any idea what the intention was."

He declined to make public the exchanges but declared that "in substance, the private exchanges do not differ from what was stated publicly" by Nixon and others at the time.

Nessen referred to several of Nixon's public statements as evidence of what he said was in the "confidential exchanges."

One was a quotation from a news conference of March 15, 1973, when Nixon said the United States had informed North Vietnam of U.S. concern about violations of the Paris accord. Nixon continued:

"And I would only suggest that based on my actions over the past four years, that the North Vietnamese should not lightly disregard such expressions of concern, when they are made, with regard to a violation. That is all I will say about it."

Other U.S. policy defeats sure to be addressed in Ford's State of the World message are collapse of peace talks in the Middle East, Congress' cutoff of U.S. aid to Turkey and possible loss of friendly ties with Greece and Portugal.

After the collapse of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's efforts to bring peace talks between Egypt and Israel, Ford ordered a reassessment of U.S. policy in the Mideast.

Kissinger said the aim of the reassessment was to find a new approach to bringing peace to the Middle East.

Battle East Of Saigon Continues

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The battle for a provincial capital 40 miles east of Saigon went into its second day today, and government officials claimed that another North Vietnamese attack had been repulsed. Other sources reported heavy fighting was continuing outside the city.

Military analysts said it was still too soon to say whether the repeated attacks on Xuan Loc, the capital of Long Khanh province, were the prelude to a drive on Saigon. Nor could they say whether the resistance being shown by the defenders of the city meant that the South Vietnamese army was stiffening after the debacle that cost it three-fourths of the country and would now stand fast and fight.

Meanwhile, the American airlift of rice from Saigon to Phnom Penh was suspended today after a heavy Khmer Rouge bombardment of the Cambodian capital's airport killed three cargo handlers and wounded eight others. But the airlift of ammunition by another American charter airline continued.

The Cambodian army lost another position across the Mekong River from Phnom Penh and was under increased pressure elsewhere around the capital. Sources close to Premier Long Boret confirmed earlier reports that he met with a Khmer Rouge delegation Monday night in Bangkok to discuss peace negotiations, and one source said the premier expressed the conviction that peace talks could be started in the next two months.

President Ford was expected to ask the U.S. Congress in a major foreign policy speech tonight for more humanitarian and military aid for Indochina. In answer to a charge by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Ford reportedly told congressional leaders Wednesday that there are "no private agreements" between the United States and South Vietnam.

But White House press secretary Ron Nessen in effect confirmed Jackson's charge of secret agreements between the Nixon administration and President Nguyen Van Thieu's government, although he said they were only what Nixon was saying in public at the time. He said Nixon had assured Saigon leaders in "confidential exchanges" prior to the signing of the 1973 peace agreement that the United States would "react vigorously" to major violations of the agreement. But he added that American military reaction had been ruled out by Congress later in 1973.

Hundreds of refugees fled from Xuan Loc southward along Highway 1 as South Vietnamese planes and helicopter gunships bombed and strafed suspected North Vietnamese positions. Checkpoints were set up on the highway to control the flow of refugees while local authorities set up temporary receiving centers to shelter them.

Five miles south of Xuan Loc, South Vietnamese armored troops and Rangers fought their way into a village on the highway while militiamen and police halted the tide of refugees. Occasional warning shots were fired into the air to stop them.

Swim In Private Pool Ends In Shooting Death Of Boy

MIAMI (AP) — "Help, help my friend is shot!" Domingo Guterres cried after an afternoon swim by five boys in a private pool ended in the fatal wounding of one of the youngsters.

Domingo, 12, said he and four friends slipped into the pool of a private apartment building Wednesday to escape the 80-degree heat. He said Maria Otero, owner of the building, got angry at them.

"She screamed for us to get out of the pool, and we were going to," he told newsmen later. "We started running away, and she shot at us and hit Johnnie."

Several hours after the incident, Mrs. Otero, 56, surrendered to police. She was charged with first-degree murder and is being held without bond.

Police said Mrs. Otero refused to discuss the incident. She is scheduled to appear at a magistrate's hearing today.

Neighbors said the shot, fired from a fifth-floor balcony, struck Johnnie Perez, 13, in the head. He stumbled across the street, then collapsed face down on the grass.

A neighbor said Domingo ran to his friend's aid.

"He was crying, and blood was just pumping out of the back of the other boy's head," the woman said.

Doctors were able to keep the Perez boy alive for about 90 minutes, but he was pronounced dead at a local hospital Wednesday afternoon.

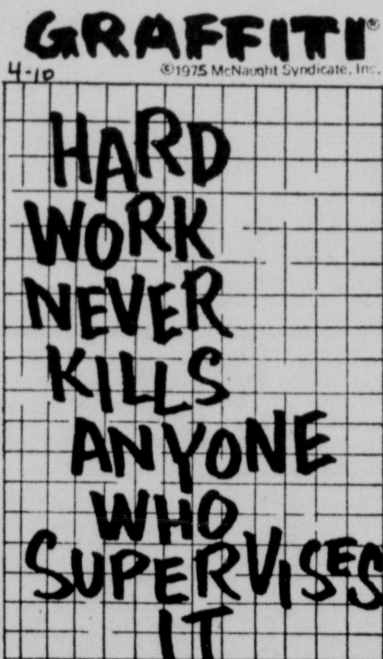

Neighbor Kathleen Leger, 21, said Mrs. Otero had chased the youths away from the pool several times previously.

"The kids usually go from one building to another so they can swim somewhere," Miss Leger said. "Just last week, I saw Mrs. Otero chase them from the building."

Hilda Sanabria, a neighbor, said Mrs. Otero is a "very kind woman who is always inviting our children to come and swim in her pool." But she said Mrs. Otero didn't like the children to come uninvited.

Another neighbor, Lila Wacilziv, said the group of boys, who often play in the neighborhood, never caused any serious trouble.

"The same kids came around the same building this past Monday," Mrs. Wacilziv said. "Kids are just kids, they like to swim."

Weather

Cloudy and cool today and tonight with chances of showers, high, low 50s. Low tonight, mid 30s. Cloudy Friday, high, upper 40s. Probability of precipitation, 30 per cent today and tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Wednesday were: high, 49; low, 37.

American Orphans Being Pushed Aside In Publicity Rush

WASHINGTON (AP) — As people scramble to adopt Vietnamese war waifs, thousands of American children remain orphaned and ignored.

Government officials estimate that there are between 100,000 and 120,000 children in foster care homes and institutions around the country. Many are victims of parental neglect. Others are caught in legal snarls and have never been freed for adoption.

Most are members of minority groups, a factor that makes them less attractive to some foster parents. And many have physical handicaps, emotional problems or come only with brothers and sisters in a package deal. Most are no longer infants while many prospective foster parents desire only infants.

"We must do everything possible for American children," said Ursula M. Gallagher, an expert in child adoption in the Children's Bureau within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"Some Americans think we have a greater responsibility to Vietnamese children fathered by American soldiers than to those children already here," she said. But Miss Gallagher said she has reservations about some of those offering to adopt Vietnamese children.

"It seems to me the reaction to the Vietnamese children is an emotional response in a crisis," she said. "Many people haven't thought through what it will mean to them if they adopt one of these children."

"They must be aware of the different needs the child will have in respect to his identity, his biological parents and his homeland. Many people who are reaching out haven't thought about the psychological and financial problems. They're reaching out to children who need the most, but children here need homes, too."

Adoption experts explain that the number of American babies available for adoption has been declining steadily for the past few years because of the increased number of abortions, improved contraceptive methods and a general interest in smaller families.

It also has become more socially acceptable for unwed mothers to keep their children.

Social workers express delight that the recent focus on the Vietnamese orphans has sparked a general public interest in adoption.

"We've received 3,500 calls in the last five days," said Mrs. Lenore Campbell, director of the Los Angeles County Department of Adoption in California. "A lot of people are interested in the Vietnamese children because they want infants, and we simply don't have them. But some say if they can't have a Vietnamese child, they'll take any child."

Judge Rules For Release Of Road Cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Federal administrators don't have the right to impound funds for highway construction in Ohio, a federal judge ruled Wednesday.

Chief U. S. District Court Judge Joseph P. Kinneary said the federal government must release as much as $123 million withheld from the state since 1973. He ordered Atty. Gen. William J. Brown of Ohio to prepare a judgment against the U. S. Department of Transportation for the contested funds.

Ohio officials filed suit after former President Nixon impounded federal funds earmarked for the states.

Ohio claimed it lost more than $120 million dating back to 1967.

Kinneary noted that state and federal officials disagree on the amount of the loss and he ordered that the judgment to be prepared by Brown be signed by the U. S. secretary of transportation and the director of budget and management.

Kinneary based his decision on a 1973 Missouri federal court decision that said the secretary of transportation is not authorized by federal law to withhold funds given by Congress to the states.

USS Chemicals Adds To Line Of Products

With an eye toward stabilizing its markets and employment situation USS Chemicals, Molded Plastic Products, is increasing its line of proprietary products produced in the Circleville plant.

At the same time the opening of a factory outlet store for the convenience of Pickaway County residents to purchase products produced here has been announced.

The announcement of the new plans were made by D. R. Minor, plant manager, and W. R. Vivian, district sales manager, in conjunction with the plant's 25th anniversary in Circleville.

The Lincoln Plastic Corporation moved to Circleville in the summer of 1950, occupying the site of the old Goeller Broom Factory at the corner of Clinton and Corwin Streets.

Lincoln was a custom injection molding plant servicing approximately 50 customers. Over the years plastic products manufactured at the Circleville plant ranged from both tiles to refrigerator parts.

On Jan. 1, 1957 the company was purchased by General American Transportation Corporation and over the years new products such as air conditioner fronts, automobile parts and industrial parts were added to the plant's product line.

March 1, 1968 the company was purchased by USS Chemicals, Division of United States Steel Corporation. During the ensuing years new larger injection molding equipment and new finishing lines were installed in the plant. The newer equipment made it possible to expand into even larger plastic products such as dash panels, washer tubs, clothes hampers and mirror frames. The increased finishing capabilities made possible the plant's first proprietary product, structural foam polystyrene shutters.

During its 25 years here, employment grew from 50 people to approximately 175 when the plant is operating at full capacity.

In the custom manufacturing business, a mold is designed to produce a customer's product, such as a dash panel for an automobile. The mold is owned by the customer, and if another manufacturer quotes a lower price, the customer may switch manufacturers, having the mold moved to the new supplier. This places the injection molder completely at the mercy of one customer and greatly reduces the molder's flexibility in plant operations and planning.

In the proprietary manufacturing operation, the product, mold and machinery and marketing are the sole responsibility of the plant. This allows the molder the ability to adjust inventories and marketing plans to suit the economic conditions, thereby bringing more stability to the plant operation.

One of the more unique products to be manufactured at the Circleville plant and which will be available through the factory outlet as well as through conventional channels, is a plastic fence post.

The post is the brainchild of Byron Rose, a graduate of Westfall High School and a former industrial arts teacher at Teays Valley High School, now a sales representative for the plant.

Similar in design to the conventional steel T-posts, the new plastic post is one-fourth the weight of steel, can utilize conventional wire fasteners, is non corrosive, making it more durable than steel in this regard. It also makes an excellent post for electric fence since no insulator is required because the plastic post is a non conductor.

According to its designer, the plastic fence post should be used where the rigidity and strength of steel are not required. It can be used alternately with steel or wood posts for field or line fencing. Most steel fence post drivers drive the plastic post and it drives equally well in hard or soft ground.

One of the more popular products manufactured at the local plant is the structural foam polystyrene shutter. Coated with a tough acrylic finish, the shutter is available in 12 sizes from 25 inches to 81 inches in length. Although manufactured here, it is marketed through conventional wholesale and retail channels and was not always available locally.

Creative cubics, the modular furniture system manufactured here, will now be available through the factory outlet store. The system consists of the basic cubes available with doors, shelves and drawers, metal or plastic bases and plain or wood tops.

Other products presently available include plastic stacking cases ideal as orchard baskets, children's toy shelves and general storage and the plastic tool organizer, a handy carrier for cleaning, hand and gardening tools.

A new line of plastic doors will be introduced soon. Designs being planned for the doors include traditional, louver or cane and they will be manufactured to fit openings from two to six feet. They can be used as room dividers, screen dividers, bifold doors, passage doors or closet doors.

The factory outlet, in addition to providing a service to the community, will also provide a consumer reaction test to local plant officials for the products manufactured here.

The outlet, located in the lobby of the plant, will be open Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. only.

ROUNDTOWN

NAMES and last known addresses of persons who appear to have the rights to unclaimed funds in Pickaway County are published in a legal notice on Page 7 of today's edition of The Herald.

If your name appears in the legal notice, address an inquiry to the director of the Ohio Department of Commerce, unclaimed funds section, 180 E. Broad St., Columbus, Ohio, 43215. Forms and information concerning the amount of the fund and the presentment of a claim will be furnished upon written inquiry.

THE Franciscan Meal Service which is now serving a hot lunch daily to 25 people is in need of volunteers. It is necessary to have two people for each of the routes: one to drive; the other, to deliver the trays. As the school year draws to a close, many mothers who have been helping must be at home during the noon hour while their children are not lunching at school; therefore, the need for more volunteers has arisen.

If you can spare the time from 11:30 to 12:30 for one, two, three or four days a month, or if you wish merely to be a standby substitute, choose the day most convenient for you and offer your services by calling The Franciscan Meals Service, 474-4647 or Mrs. Larry Eveland, 474-6391. It will be a good mark upon your record.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pressed ahead today, adding to its sharp gains of the past two sessions.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up more than a point, and gainers took a 4-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted continued enthusiasm over the bond market's firming trend in the past two days despite the burden of heavy borrowing demand by the government, seeking to finance the federal budget deficit.

They also said the strong upsurge in stock prices since Monday's close evidently convinced a good many investors that the market's early-1975 rally might have further to go.

Today's prices included McGraw-Hill, up 1/4 at 14 1/4; Alcan Aluminum, 1/2 higher at 19 1/2; Delta Airlines, ahead 1/4 at 36 1/4, and S.S. Kresge, up 1/2 at 26 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average racked up its second best gain of the year with an 18.77 surge of 767.99.

Advances outstripped declines about a 3-1 margin as turnover accelerated to 18.12 million shares on the Big Board.

The NYSE's composite index rose .90 to 43.88.

Senate Votes Repeal Of Traffic Section

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Senate has voted to repeal the so-called habitual offender motor vehicle law over claims it hasn't been given a chance and is under attack only from truckers violating the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit.

Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, charged in a floor speech

Wednesday that "the truckers are the ones violating the speed limit and are getting close" to 24 penalty points under which they can lose their licenses for five years.

The 1972 statute provides that drivers who accumulate a total of 24 points over a 10-year period automatically lose their driving privileges for five years.

The bill would repeal that provision, but retain six-month suspensions for motorists who amass 12 points over two years.

The bill was approved 30-2 by the Senate and sent to the House.

Under Ohio's penalty point system, a motorist can be assessed from two to six points for each "moving" violations—the most serious offenses being six points for drunk driving and reckless operation.

Sen. David L. Headly, D-28 Barberton, said the law was overly restrictive and, among other things, could require teen-agers who may be ticketed for "having long hair" to be punished after they have grown into their 20s and reached maturity.

Headly conceded that truckers were the most outspoken supporters of the legislation, but denied it was because they wanted to break speed laws.

"A lot of them said they would lose their jobs and their pensions if they couldn't drive for five years," he said.

Joining Van Meter in opposition was Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, who asserted the habitual offender's statute "should at least be given a chance."

About 50 per cent of all highway deaths are related in some way to drunk driving, he said.

In other business, the Senate approved and sent to the House a bill increasing from $50 to $160 per calendar quarter the wages that may be earned by a casual household worker before his employer must cover him with workmen's compensation insurance.

Without dissent, the Senate approved another measure that permits local public and private agencies to contract with school boards to provide hot meals for the elderly in school cafeterias.

The House concurred in Senate amendments to a bill permitting the employment of interpreters for non-English speaking voters.

By a vote of 79-14, it sent to the Senate a bill cracking down on bingo promoters operating under the guise of a charitable organizations which can play bingo under existing law.

The House lumbered through three hours of debate and finally passed a half dozen other measures which now head for Senate consideration.

They would:

—Strengthen the powers of the attorney general to regulate charitable trusts — namely those left for public benefit for which no specific heir is designated.

—Allow townships to purchase group life insurance for employees.

—Require hospital, medical, and surgical insurance programs to permit group policyholders to convert to individual contracts.

—Enter Ohio into the Interstate Compact for Placement of Children.

—Permit Ohio State University hospitals to charge certain fees for tuberculosis treatment.

—Extend workmen's compensation insurance to preapprentices, entry level trainees, and journeymen trainees on union jobs.

Eight Appear During Wednesday Session Of Common Pleas Court

Eight persons accused of felonies appeared Wednesday before Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer. Five of those appearing were sentenced and the other three entered guilty pleas.

A pre-sentence report was ordered by the court on Pearl William Sutton for three charges of forgery. Sutton came before the court on bills of information and entered pleas of guilty to all three counts.

Violation of probation charges were filed against Robert Shaffer. Shaffer, represented by John Farthing, was found guilty of failure to report to his probation officer, leaving the state, and failure to pay his court costs. He had originally been placed on probation for theft.

Judge Ammer revoked Shaffer's probation and ordered the previously imposed sentence to be re-imposed. He was then ordered committed to the county jail for six months. The court ordered that the time he spent in that facility since his arrest would be credited to the sentence.

Susan Cestero, Cleveland, appeared on a charge of complicity and changed her plea from not guilty to guilty. The court ordered the Adult Parole Authority to prepare a pre-sentence report on her before he passed sentence.

Timothy Morgan, Route 2, Ashville, also appeared to change his plea from not guilty to guilty. He admitted to the court that he had broken into and entered the Everett Welsh property. The court ordered a pre-sentence report to be prepared on him also.

A Columbus woman, Sally Howland, appeared on two counts of forgery. She pleaded guilty to passing the two checks in the amount of $154.20 each and the court proceeded to sentence her.

Mrs. Howland was ordered committed to the Ohio State Reformatory for Women at Marysville for a term of one to five years on each count. The court ordered the two terms to run concurrently and granted her credit for the 72 days she has already spent incarcerated in the county jail. The woman has had check charges pending against her in several other counties.

A final appearance was made by Robert Allen, Columbus. He was originally charged with attempted rape of a young female at the fairgrounds last summer. He appeared Wednesday on a reduced charge of assault. The court sentenced him to a term of six months in the Pickaway County Jail and then suspended all of the term except 60 days. Allen was also placed on probation for one year.

Dwight E. Brown Jr., Route 2, Ashville, appeared for sentencing on a charge of breaking and entering. The court suspended a sentence of 1-5 years at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men and placed Brown on probation for three years.

In final action during the morning session, the court sentenced William LeRoy Gilbert, 216 W. Mound St. Gilbert was charged with two counts of uttering and publishing a bad check. He was fined $50 on each count and sentenced to six months in the county jail on each count. The court suspended the jail sentence and placed Gilbert on probation until April 24, 1977.

Consumer Protection Measures Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission says that individuals are at the mercy of finance companies and other lenders when it comes to settling on terms for personal loans such as those to buy cars and appliances.

To remedy this, the commission issued a proposal Wednesday that would require lenders within its reach to throw out their old standard loan contracts and write new ones.

The commission's proposal would revise repossession procedures, among others. Under current standard procedures for example, a loan company can take back a $3,000 car if the purchaser falls behind in payments. The car is sold for $1,000, perhaps to the dealer who sold it in the first place and sends his loan business to the loan company. The buyer is stuck with making up the difference.

The FTC proposal would require the lender to get a fair market price for any repossessed goods.

The proposal also affects the case of someone who takes out a personal loan and signs a contract with a clause giving the lender the right to seize and sell any of the borrower's personal effects in case of default.

This practice would stop under the FTC proposal. The loan contract would have to specify which household furnishings or other personal property were being taken as security and only those items could be attached.

Another standard clause requires the borrower to waive any rights to receive advance notice that the lender is initiating collection action or to contest the action. The FTC proposal would require that a borrower retain those rights.

Other provisions of the proposal, which will be the subject of public comment and hearing, would limit collection fees which can be assessed against debtors and bar lenders from using wage assignments to collect debts bigger than $300.

The FTC regulations apply directly only to lenders not already regulated by the Federal Reserve Board and other federal agencies. But the Fed is required by a new law to decide no later than 60 days after the FTC rule becomes final whether to extend the provisions to the banks it regulates. The Fed must justify any decision not to afford the same protections for bank loans.

The regulations would not apply to home mortgages. FTC staffer said they considered current protections in the cases of home defaults to be adequate.

Bowsher Estate Explained To Council On Aging

The distribution of the Bowsher Estate was explained to the Pickaway Council on Aging during its April meeting at the Senior Citizen's Center Tuesday.

Pickaway County Probate Judge Guy Cline and attorney Carl C. Leist were on the program. Leist is the attorney handling the estate. Beneficiaries are Berger Hospital and the county commissioners. One-half of the money for the county is to be used for children's services and one-half for the elderly, Leist reported.

A partial distribution of $55,000 has been made to the county commissioners. They used the portion for the children to purchase the group home for boys and have not yet allocated the share for senior citizens. The remainder of the money is being held pending completion of the settlement of the estate.

It was announced by Mrs. Vera Saunders ground has been plowed for the senior citizen's gardens at the old Children's home property and will be further prepared sometime this week. Senior citizens have made application for 49 garden plots. Prizes will be awarded to the gardener with the first ripe tomato and the one with the largest head of cabbage.

Twyla Leist, administrator of senior citizen's activities, announced the request for the 1976 community fund has been made. The request is for $2,300. Mrs. Leist also reported the organization completed its third year of operation with a balance of $423 in its checking fund with all bills paid and a savings account of $2,200. There are 315 members in the organization.

The Good Shepherd United Methodist Church has offered the use of its service center to the council on aging for its monthly meetings. It was decided to accept the offer because a larger meeting room is needed.

Car Causes $2000 Damage To Gas Pumps

Two gasoline pumps, valued at $1,000 each, were destroyed when Linda S. Davis, 22, Ashville, backed into them at the Rich Oil Station in South Bloomfield.

Miss Davis pulled into the station 5:20 a.m. Wednesday to pick up some items when she began to back up the truck. Her foot slipped from the back pedal and the truck coasted into the gasoline pumps causing them to ignite into flames.

The Harrison Twp. Fire Department extinguished the fire.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Nick Franklin investigated the incident.

Twenty-year-old Pamela A. Jackson, Route 2, Mt. Sterling, was referred to a doctor for back injuries when she reported to Deputy Bill Dountz she was involved in a single-car accident, 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Traveling west on Route 56, Miss Jackson lost control of the vehicle and traveled off the road into a field.

Era Of The Small Car Coming To Nation

DETROIT (AP) — The 1975 model year will go down in automotive history as the year when Americans and big cars parted ways.

When September comes and the numbers are tabulated, industry executives say small cars — compacts, subcompacts and most imports — will account for more than half of total U.S. sales.

That would be the first time small cars have outsold the large land cruisers since auto companies began classifying cars by size more than 25 years ago.

"There's no question 1975 is the turning point," said one company analyst. "This is the year of the small car. It will never come back the other way."

Ford Motor Co. president Lee A. Iacocca sees further growth for small cars just around the bend. He says, "If you want to put a number on it, smalls will average out at over 60 per cent (of the market) late in the 70s."

That's a tremendous turnaround for small cars, which in 1949 accounted for only two per cent of industry sales and only three per cent as recently as 1958.

The strength of small cars in recent months has been particularly dramatic. Spurred by cash rebates lavished on their segment, small cars grabbed a record 62 per cent of the market in February. Last month, small cars captured 54 per cent of total sales, with low-priced leftover 1974 imports leading the way.

"It's not that Americans don't like big cars any more," says one company analyst. "It's just that fuel and price have become more important than size. If we could sell an intermediate for $3,000 the great majority of people would buy one and forget small cars."

Another analyst adds: "The energy crisis last year got people thinking about nothing but higher gasoline prices, fuel economy and small cars. Then comes along the recession. Everyone becomes price-conscious. So people turn again to small cars."

A spokesman for Ford says changing social values also helped deflate the big car boom.

"In the early 1900s a car was a rich man's plaything. By the 1950s, it became a basic and necessary mode of transportation, but it still was a big status symbol. Now with fuel shortages and recession coming down on your head, a car has become a careful, practical purchase."

The relative size of cars has changed as well. Detroit kept building larger standard cars over the years, claiming that's what the public wanted. The result is that today's "small" compact is the size of the "big" car of the 1950s, which makes it easier for the companies to sell small cars to people who drove family sedans 20 years ago.

But as inflation forced car prices up, Americans were starting to buy a second, usually smaller, family car.

In 1959, as more imports landed on America's shores, the small car segment jumped to 13 per cent, and the following year Detroit made its move by introducing the first modern era of the American small car. By 1960, small cars captured 27 per cent of the market.

Detroit continued to introduce new, small models in the 1960s. Even so, small cars still were held to about a quarter of the market until 1970, when imports, capitalizing on another inflationary cycle in the United States, logged record sales with models that were priced hundreds of dollars below what Detroit had to offer.

Although devaluation of the dollar in 1971 raised import prices and nipped the foreign car invasion in the bud, the U.S. companies had responded quickly with a new generation of subcompact cars. By 1971, two out of every five cars sold in the United States were small.

The Mideast oil embargo in the fall of 1973 accelerated the switch to small cars, which took a record 54 per cent share of the market in January 1974 before settling down with a 46 per cent share for the entire model year.

Evangelism Film Shown To Ministers

Fourteen ministers were present for the Pickaway County Ministerial Association for the April 7 meeting at Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

A. E. Pusey opened the meeting with devotions which was followed by the reading of the minutes.

Olive Neff, distributed materials for churches taking part in the Soil Conservation Week Program. Theme of the week, scheduled May 4-11, is "Our Test of Strength".

Members of the nominating Commission appointed were, Gene Flowers, chairman; Richard Crosby and Roy Osborn.

A representative from the Underground Evangelism directed the program for the meeting.

John Thompson presented a film entitled, "To Russia With Love", which showed how the church is persecuted today in Russia and how the Bible is smuggled into the Communist Countries.

Actual scenes were taken from behind the Iron Curtain. One third of the world is controlled by communism and to have possession of a Bible in Russia, one is to be on a list by the secret police and to be constantly watched.

Harold Hewitt, YMCA Representative, discussed the $750,000 Fund Drive Program.

Present for the meeting were, Fred Mercer, Roy Osborn, Roy Heimbach, Eugene Flowers, A. E. Pusey, Gene Mendenhall, Wayne Wardwell, William Hill, John DeMint, Carl Zehner, Richard Crosby, Don Markarius, Marion Nansel and Henry Walters.

The next meeting is scheduled May 5.

The auto companies already were planning to strengthen their small car lineups but didn't anticipate the suddenness of the oil embargo. They launched a multibillion-dollar crash program to increase small car output and introduce new models of small cars. In less than six months they underwent the largest plant reconversion effort since World War II.

The companies also have introduced within the past year nearly a dozen new small cars and more are on the way.

The firms, which had been making their standards cars increasingly larger during the last decade, are in the midst of massive projects to reduce the size of family cars by 1978.

Era Of The Small Car Coming To Nation

DETROIT (AP) — The 1975 model year will go down in automotive history as the year when Americans and big cars parted ways.

When September comes and the numbers are tabulated, industry executives say small cars — compacts, subcompacts and most imports — will account for more than half of total U.S. sales.

That would be the first time small cars have outsold the large land cruisers since auto companies began classifying cars by size more than 25 years ago.

"There's no question 1975 is the turning point," said one company analyst. "This is the year of the small car. It will never come back the other way."

Ford Motor Co. president Lee A. Iacocca sees further growth for small cars just around the bend. He says, "If you want to put a number on it, smalls will average out at over 60 per cent (of the market) late in the 1970s."

That's a tremendous turnabout for small cars, which in 1949 accounted for only two per cent of industry sales and only three per cent as recently as 1958.

The strength of small cars in recent months has been particularly dramatic. Spurred by cash rebates lavished on their segment, small cars grabbed a record 62 per cent of the market in February. Last month, small cars captured 54 per cent of total sales, with low-priced leftover 1974 imports leading the way.

"It's not that Americans don't like big cars any more," says one company analyst. "It's just that fuel and price have become more important than size. If we could sell an intermediate for $3,000 the great majority of people would buy one and forget small cars."

Another analyst adds: "The energy crisis last year got people thinking about nothing but higher gasoline prices, fuel economy and small cars. Then comes along the recession. Everyone becomes price-conscious. So people turn again to small cars."

A spokesman for Ford says changing social values also helped deflate the big car boom.

"In the early 1900s a car was a rich man's plaything. By the 1950s, it became a basic and necessary mode of transportation, but it still was a big status symbol. Now with fuel short-

Court Nixes Lima State Release Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has rejected the plea of a Cuyahoga County woman accused of murder that she be released from the Lima State Hospital.

The court ruled there was sufficient reason to believe Anna Horvath will regain her sanity and be able to stand trial.

The defendant was arrested on a charge of murder on Aug. 21, 1972. She was committed following a sanity hearing in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court and was found to be still insane at another hearing on Nov. 2, 1973.

She asked the court to release her, arguing that she was unlikely ever to be able to stand trial and her commitment therefore violated the due process clause of the U.S. Constitution.

The court, however, noted that psychiatrists testified she has a "reasonable expectation" of being able to stand trial.

In other decisions, the court: —Upheld the conviction of Arvel L. Arthur for possession of checks stolen from a Covington, Ky., construction company.

Arthur, who listed no address in court records, was arrested on May 25, 1973, by a Cincinnati police officer and was found to be carrying three checks stolen from Century Construction Inc.

On appeal, Arthur contended that the prosecution had not proven "guilty knowledge" on his part in connection with the checks. But the court said the guilty knowledge could be inferred since Arthur did not attempt to explain how he happened to have the checks.

—Ruled that Armco Steel Corp.'s open hearth furnace and railroad tracks in Middletown are taxable as personal property rather than real estate.

Armco had filed the appeal from a decision by the Butler County Board of Revision that both were taxable as real estate.

A Page Of Opinion

Hard Work Disputed

As if the world did not have enough problems, the argument has been presented by two writers — who shall remain nameless — that laziness may be a virtue and hard work a sign of a sluggish mind.

Perhaps it is a matter of definition. The writers differentiate between laziness and shiftlessness. Genuine laziness is not even close to shiftlessness, according to this reasoning.

Laziness is really the ability to achieve maximum results with minimum physical effort. Anyone who has tried to devise a Huckleberry Finn scheme to get someone else to do his work for him knows how mentally exhausting it can be.

As this theory goes, the man who expends the least physical effort and survives is superior to the man who spends his life at hard labor. And it is less risky.

Many are they who have died from overexertion, or at least shortened their normal life expectancy. But who ever heard of anyone dying from over-laziness?

Physicians of course will testify that a certain amount of physical exercise is necessary to maintain good health. But almost all progress involves elimination of physical effort.

If laziness thus becomes an asset, what other traditional virtues might be open to change? Thrift, a virtue public servants overcame long ago, is susceptible to wider attack. Who is thriftier, the man who salts away his savings in a safe and secure investment or one who plunges into a potentially rich and hazardous deal — and makes a bundle? If the latter had lost his gamble, there would be no doubt.

Unquestionably, the result of any effort carries a lot of weight in assessing the motive behind the input. But if this means the end justifies the means, much more than traditional values will go out the window.

Louis's Greet Role

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS — Joe Louis was taking it easy in the office of his friend Tom Diskin, a former sports editor who has graduated to the tinsel tom-tom division of Caesars Palace.

"Do you have a title?" I asked my hero.

"I dunno," Joe said with a smile and a soft chuckle. "I guess I'm the No. 1 handshaker in the casino." He turned to Diskin. "Do I have a title here?" he asked. Joe has been working at the pleasure dome for about three years and now has a home in Las Vegas.

"Yeah, Joe," Tom said. "You're listed as our Official Greeter."

"That's nice," Joe said. "I don't know what it means, but it's a nice job. I don't have to show up every day. Gives me a chance to play a little golf."

"How's your shtick?" (cq)

"I don't take it serious any more," said the former heavyweight champion of the world, who was "taken" for untold thousands of dollars of his hard-won cash by some of golf's prime hustlers of yore. "Just friendly little rounds, for fun. I'm handicapped at 10 now. In 1950, I was scratch," he mused.

Joe is 60 and weighs 240. He is more interested in the upcoming $250,000 tennis match between Jimmy Connors and John Newcombe, to be promoted later this month by Alan King at Caesars, than he is in the upcoming fight between Muhammad Ali and somebody named Zilch. (As far as known, Dempsey never developed a fever of interest over the outcome of a Tilden-Johnston match at Forest Hills.)

"There's no fight I'd like to see right now," Joe said. "Muhammad's through. Never was much when he wasn't through. He's the only one, though, who's keeping boxing alive. Maybe if Foreman learned to fight, or Frazier and Norton had a good fight left in them, things might be different. But you don't know any more. Main thing I don't like about boxing these days is the way they play around with the ropes. When Muhammad's fighting, they loosen them during a fight. I never would've fought if they loosened the ropes. They should be tight. If somebody loosens them, he gives his fighter a break, if he's a fighter he lays on the ropes most of the fight, like Muhammad does these years. What it gives him is six or seven inches to lean back out of the way of punches. That's all you need, six or seven inches. Two or three inches is enough, if you're trying not to get hit hard."

I asked him if he ever heard any more from the men who ruled his life and, in conglomerate, took more than 50 per cent of his ring earnings.

"No," said the honest fighter who would have made millions if he had been born 40 years later. "Last I heard, John Roxborough and Julian Black were ailing. They must be 80, and their eyes ain't good. Jack Blackburn, my old trainer, he's dead. But my old friend Manny Seamon, he's still working around the tracks in New York."

It stirred memories in Joe.

"I got something to do with the Black Hall of Fame," he said. "The hotel helps me. I had my friend Beau Jack out here as my guest, when he got voted in. (Ed. note - the former lightweight champ now shines shoes at the Fontainebleau in Miami Beach.) We've got all the good black fellows in the Hall now: you know, Ray Robinson, Henry Armstrong, Jack Johnson, Roy Campanella. Top guys like that. Now we're picking some whites for the Black Hall of Fame — whites who did something for the Negro athletes."

PERS Officials Defend Practices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite temporary downturns in the economy, the stock market over the long haul is "the place to be" for big investors such as the state retirement systems, a legislative committee was told Tuesday night.

Representatives of the state's five public retirement systems appeared before a Senate-House retirement committee looking into the possibility of restricting their stock investments.

Herschel Pittenger, chief investor for the State Teachers Retirement System, said STRS has about one third of its nearly $3 billion worth of assets invested in stocks and that over the years, they have "out-performed" bonds in terms of earnings.

Chairman Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-71 Youngstown, and others wanted to know why, they said, present figures show the system's stock portfolio to be worth about $252 million less than what was paid for it.

"I think other people are making better investments than you are," he said.

Pittenger conceded that 1973 and

We've elected George Halas, Abe Saperstein, Leo Durocher and some others. Why shouldn't we? They helped us so much."

Joe said he was sorry that he had not been able to get back to New York for the funerals of several men who wrote so wonderfully about him in the years when he was both the gentlest and menacing (in the ring) man in sports — Jimmy Cannon of the Hearst papers, Milt Gross of the N.Y. Post, and Arthur Daley of the New York Times.

"How's Jack?" he asked. He could only mean Dempsey, his hero. I told him Jack was fine, and battling arthritis of the hips with a left-hook cane.

"Toots?" He meant Shor. "He's okay, Joe," I said. "Battling two broken legs with a right overhand cane. He could never hook with a left."

Joe laughed happily, his own years, triumphs and disasters no longer pertinent.

"Give Jack and Toots a message when you get back," he asked. "Tell 'em to come on out here . . . and be my guests."

1974 were "disaster years" in the market, but contended the investments over the long term will turn out to be profitable "as they have in the past. It's the place to be."

The STRS official, who heads a staff of seven professional fiscal analysts, noted that from 1926 to 1974, a period "which included the years of the Great Depression", common stocks had earnings that averaged 8.4 per cent, compared to 3.5 per cent for bonds over the same period.

Despite the present economic setback, he said "we are making an assumption that the big depression that hit in 1929 is not going to repeat itself, and we are assuming that the long-term growth will continue."

Also called before Gilmartin's committee were representatives of the Public Employees Retirement System—with its stocks down about $168 million on the current market—the School Employees Retirement System, the Police and Firemen's Disability and Pension Fund, and the Highway Patrol Pension Fund.

SUB Pay Running Out

DETROIT (AP) — Thousands of laid-off auto workers begin an uncertain financial struggle next week when the exhaustion of special jobless benefits cuts their unemployment pay by up to two thirds.

For Billie Hewlett, a laid-off Chrysler Corp. worker in Detroit, it means supporting herself and a child on $64 a week. For Harold Rands, an assembler with a wife and five teenagers in Poplar Grove, Ill., it means making ends meet on $118 a week.

Chrysler will turn off the tap on its Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) fund Friday. Massive and prolonged layoffs have depleted the fund's cash reserves. When that happens, 33,400 laid-off production workers will lose between $30 and $110 a week.

SUB, when combined with regular unemployment compensation, was designed to provide eligible laid off workers with an average $170, or almost 95 per cent of their take home pay. But the fund was not created to handle layoffs of the magnitude forced by the current slump in the auto industry.

In addition to the expected personal hardship, the United Auto Workers expects the exhaustion of Chrysler's SUB fund to spell trouble for Detroit.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have read that it is possible to become addicted to the small amounts of codeine in cough medicine.

My teenage daughter tells me that some adolescents buy this medicine over the counter without a prescription. Why isn't this prohibited by law?

Mrs. J.W., R.I.

Dear Mrs. W.:

The codeine in over-the-counter cough medicines and the alcohol that they contain have made them popular with many young people. They have found that they can purchase these drugs and still stay within the law.

Many people regularly make the rounds of buying up the legal four-ounce maximum, and thus accumulate enough to satisfy their addiction.

Legislation in many states is being directed at preventing the purchase of these over-the-counter drugs.

It must be emphasized that when these cough mixtures are prescribed by doctors for a limited time, there is no danger of inducing dependence or addiction.

Many reliable pharmacists quickly catch on to those who try to purchase these medicines for other purposes. Not only do they refuse to sell but, in fact, report these attempted purchases to the authorities, to doctors and to parents.

Is there a condition of "thin blood?" Are the expensive medicines that are advertised of any value?

Mis J.O'B., Wisc.

Dear Miss O'B.:

"Thin blood" has no meaning to doctors or to the advertising people who created this medically pointless term.

Expensive tonics and fancy dietary supplements make medical suckers out of those who fall prey to the pressures of cleverly written ads for the cure of "thin blood."

A normal, nutritive diet supplies all the needed vitamins and minerals known as "daily requirements."

There are some types of anemia which may need supplemental iron and vitamins. When this is found by complete blood study, inexpensive, effective drugs and vitamin supplements are available. None of these should "thin out" the pocketbook of those who need special nutritive fortification.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The most important activity of the Federal Trade Commission today is antitrust action, a spokesman said, but within that category the focus clearly is on fair trade pricing arrangements.

"Fair trade laws are little more than anticompetitive price-fixing, unadorned with any redeeming features," Lewis Engman, FTC chairman, told Congress earlier this year.

He added: "We doubt that we needed them when we got them. We are confident that we do not need them now." He cited a 1969 report suggesting that fair trade laws cost the consumer $1.5 billion a year.

Fair trading, in which a manufacturer generally sets a price that his distributors and retailers are expected to honor, began during the depression of the 1930s, the first law being enacted in California.

In 1937, the Miller-Tydings Act went into effect, permitting individual states to write fair trade laws granting exemption from both the Sherman Antitrust Act and the Federal Trade Commission Act.

And in 1952 the McGuire Act was passed, permitting manufacturers to hold retailers to fixed prices even though the retailers declined to sign contracts of agreement.

At their height, fair trade laws existed in 46 states. The number now is down to 36. Only 13 still have McGuire Act provisions.

The rationale for fair trading is that it prevents cutthroat competition. That might have been so during the depression of the 1930s, says Richard Givens, head of the New York FTC office, but it isn't true any longer.

"During the 1930s, the problem arose from a deficiency of buying power, which led to drastic price declines and intense competition involving numerous sales below cost on a large scale," Givens said in an interview.

"The type of economic pinch which exists today is entirely different. The present situation arises out of the scarcity of certain limited resources, such as petroleum, and the increase in the cost of such items."

Because certain expenses are forced higher, the manufacturer and probably the retailer also strive to keep prices compensatorily high instead of resorting to innovative, cost-cutting techniques.

The worst type of price-fixing, according to Givens, is horizontal, which exists when retailers, distributors or manufacturers, instead of competing, agree to sell for the same price.

By contrast, vertical leaves some room for competition. It generally involves the manufacturer of a certain product insisting that the retailer sell for a certain price. But that still leaves competition among retailers, and among different manufacturers also.

You may be certain price-fixing of some sort will always prevail. Practitioners fail to recognize that, in their self-interest, they are reinventing old techniques to avoid competition. "Their excuses are seductively rational," says Givens.

Among the techniques are what have come to be known as phantom freight charges, the customer being charged for freight from a given distance even though that distance might not have been involved.

Tying arrangements are another knot. If you buy one product you must buy another; that is, if you buy the copying machine you have to buy the paper too.

But of all the devices, fair trading is probably the most obvious. Says Engman:

"Repeal of the Miller-Tydings and McGuire Acts will encourage market innovation, it will reduce prices and it will increase consumer choice in the market place."

Campus Clowning Serious Business

NEW YORK (AP) — Clowning around the campus is serious business for Fred Yockers of Flatbush.

Yockers, who grew up in Brooklyn, is a professional clown who worked with the Ringling Brothers' Barnum and Bailey Circus for six months, including nine weeks in Madison Square Garden.

A senior theater major at Brooklyn College, Yockers has taught a class of clown acts.

Yockers intends to make a career of clowning, but he decided after his six months of touring the country that he doesn't want to spend his life as a circus clown.

"I couldn't stand being a non-name person in the circus," he explains.

"People say to me, 'You were in the circus, you must have seen the world.' But all I saw were backyards, freights and stockyards."

Yockers plans tentatively to work again with a circus this summer and then study next fall with the noted mime Jacques LeCoque in Paris. Ultimately, he would like to find a performance and teaching center devoted to circus, mime and media dell'arte.

A Page Of Opinion

Hard Work Disputed

As if the world did not have enough problems, the argument has been presented by two writers — who shall remain nameless — that laziness may be a virtue and hard work a sign of a sluggish mind.

Perhaps it is a matter of definition. The writers differentiate between laziness and shiftlessness. Genuine laziness is not even close to shiftlessness, according to this reasoning.

Laziness is really the ability to achieve maximum results with minimum physical effort. Anyone who has tried to devise a Huckleberry Finn scheme to get someone else to do his work for him knows how mentally exhausting it can be.

As this theory goes, the man who expends the least physical effort and survives is superior to the man who spends his life at hard labor. And it is less risky.

Many are they who have died from overexertion, or at least shortened their normal life expectancy. But who ever heard of anyone dying from over-laziness?

Physicians of course will testify that a certain amount of physical exercise is necessary to maintain good health. But almost all progress involves elimination of physical effort.

If laziness thus becomes an asset, what other traditional virtues might be open to change? Thrift, a virtue public servants overcame long ago, is susceptible to wider attack. Who is thrifter, the man who salts away his savings in a safe and secure investment or one who plunges into a potentially rich and hazardous deal — and makes a bundle? If the latter had lost his gamble, there would be no doubt.

Unquestionably, the result of any effort carries a lot of weight in assessing the motive behind the input. But if this means the end justifies the means, much more than traditional values will go out the window.

Louis's Greet Role

By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS — Joe Louis was taking it easy in the office of his friend Tom Diskin, a former sports editor who has graduated to the tinseltown division of Caesars Palace.

"Do you have a title?" I asked my hero.

"I dunno," Joe said with a smile and a soft chuckle. "I guess I'm the No. 1 handshaker in the casino." He turned to Diskin. "Do I have a title here?" he asked. Joe has been working at the pleasure dome for about three years and now has a home in Las Vegas.

"Yeah, Joe," Tom said. "You're listed as our Official Greeter."

"That's nice," Joe said. "I don't know what it means, but it's a nice job. I don't have to show up every day. Gives me a chance to play a little golf."

"How's your shtick?" (cq)

"I don't take it serious any more," said the former heavyweight champion of the world, who was "taken" for untold thousands of dollars of his hard-earned cash by some of golf's prime hustlers of yore. "Just friendly little rounds, for fun. I'm handicapped at 10 now. In 1950, I was scratch," he mused.

Joe is 60 and weighs 240. He is more interested in the upcoming $250,000 tennis match between Jimmy Connors and John Newcombe, to be promoted later this month by Alan King at Caesars, than he is in the upcoming fight between Muhammad Ali and somebody named Zilch. (As far as known, Dempsey never developed a fever of interest over the outcome of a Tilden-Johnston match at Forest Hills.)

"There's no fight I'd like to see right now," Joe said. "Muhammad's through. Never was much when he wasn't through. He's the only one, though, who's keeping boxing alive. Maybe if Foreman learned to fight, or Frazier and Norton had a good fight left in them, things might be different. But you don't know any more. Main thing I don't like about boxing these days is the way they play around with the ropes. When Muhammad's fighting, they loosen them during a fight. I never would've fought if they loosened the ropes. They should be tight. If somebody loosens them, he gives his fighter a break, if he's a fighter he lays on the ropes most of the fight, like Muhammad does these years. What it gives him is six or seven inches to lean back out of the way of punches. That's all you need, six or seven inches. Two or three inches is enough, if you're trying not to get hit

I asked him if he ever heard any more from the men who ruled his life and, in conglomerate, took more than 50 per cent of his ring earnings.

"No," said the honest fighter who would have made millions if he had been born 40 years later. "Last I heard, John Roxborough and Julian Black were ailing. They must be 80, and their eyes ain't good. Jack Blackburn, my old trainer, he's dead. But my old friend Manny Seamon, he's still working around the tracks in New York."

It stirred memories in Joe.

"I got something to do with the Black Hall of Fame," he said. "The hotel helps me. I had my friend Beau Jack out here as my guest, when he got voted in. (Ed. note - the former lightweight champ now shines shoes at the Fontainebleau in Miami Beach.)

We've got all the good black fellows in the Hall now: you know, Ray Robinson, Henry Armstrong, Jack Johnson, Roy Campanella. Top guys like that. Now we're picking some whites for the Black Hall of Fame — whites who did something for the Negro athletes.

PERS Officials Defend Practices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite temporary downturns in the economy, the stock market over the long haul is "the place to be" for big investors such as the state retirement systems, a legislative committee was told Tuesday night.

Representatives of the state's five public retirement systems appeared before a Senate-House retirement committee looking into the possibility of restricting their stock investments.

Herschel Pittenger, chief investor for the State Teachers Retirement System, said STRS has about one third of its nearly $3 billion worth of assets invested in stocks and that over the years, they have "out-performed" bonds in terms of earnings.

Chairman Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-71 Youngstown, and others wanted to know why, they said, present figures show the system's stock portfolio to be worth about $252 million less than what was paid for it.

"I think other people are making better investments than you are," he said.

Pittenger conceded that 1973 and

1974 were "disaster years" in the market, but contended the investments over the long term will turn out to be profitable "as they have in the past. It's the place to be."

The STRS official, who heads a staff of seven professional fiscal analysts, noted that from 1926 to 1974, a period "which included the years of the Great Depression", common stocks had earnings that averaged 8.4 per cent, compared to 3.5 per cent for bonds over the same period.

Steel Jaw Traps Under Attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The steel jaw leg-hold trap, the main device used by Ohio's furtrapping industry, was attacked as an instrument of torture and cruelty Tuesday night by a director of the Fund for Animals.

Author and columnist Cleveland Amory urged the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee to recommend passage of a bill outlawing the trap.

"The basic instrument is a torture instrument," Amory said. "It holds the animal until death."

Amory compared the leg-hold trap with the clubbing of baby seals in the Arctic, which he first reported in the United States.

He said in a way the baby seals are luckier because they are killed relatively quickly. He said trapped animals have been known to live for days, even weeks, in the steel jaw traps before succumbing to starvation or predators.

"For the trapped animal, the club, the final kill, is the best news he could have."

Amory said the clubbing of baby seals attracted national indignation simply because it was finally exposed to the public in pictures and on television.

"The reason they're not excited about the steel trap is because they haven't seen it. But they will, sir," Amory told committee Chairman John E. Johnson, D-68 Orrville.

Johnson's committee was hearing testimony from supporters Tuesday night. The audience filled a 500-seat hearing room at the State Departments Building, then stood along both walls and in the doorways.

Many of the supporters carried posters protesting the traps. Some opponents also were in the audience. They will testify in another hearing next week.

In a presentation before Amory's testimony, bill sponsor Rep. Mike Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, called the leg-hold trap "a device so barbaric that civilized man should be ashamed to admit to using it."

Stinziano said the trap closes on the leg of an animal "like two dull butcher blades. The more the animal struggles, the worse its pain. Some animals remain alive in those traps for days, some for weeks."

Stinziano noted that users of the trap have cited a state law requiring trap lines to be checked every 30 hours. He said the requirement makes little difference.

"The 30-hour requirement can't really be enforced," he said. "How many cases have been brought to court? We can't expect our enforcement officers to sit around with stopwatches."

Stinziano said the trap has been outlawed in 14 countries and in Hawaii, Massachusetts, Florida and parts of New Jersey.

His bill would outlaw the leghold trap and require use of traps which either kill instantly or hold the animal uninjured.

Settlement Made In Putnam County

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An out-of-court settlement of $15,500 was made by Schumacher Soil Service Inc. of Columbus Grove in Putnam County to the state in a civil lawsuit involving a massive fish kill, the Department of Natural Resources announced.

The lawsuit contended that 261,390 wild animals were killed along a seven-mile stretch of Cranberry Creek in August 1972 when the company's fertilizer plant was permitted to drain into the creek.

Steel Jaw Traps Under Attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The steel jaw leg-hold trap, the main device used by Ohio's furtrapping industry, was attacked as an instrument of torture and cruelty Tuesday night by a director of the Fund for Animals.

Author and columnist Cleveland Amory urged the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee to recommend passage of a bill outlawing the trap.

"The basic instrument is a torture instrument," Amory said. "It holds the animal until death."

Amory compared the leg-hold trap with the clubbing of baby seals in the Arctic, which he first reported in the United States.

He said in a way the baby seals are luckier because they are killed relatively quickly. He said trapped animals have been known to live for days, even weeks, in the steel jaw traps before succumbing to starvation or predators.

"For the trapped animal, the club, the final kill, is the best news he could have."

Amory said the clubbing of baby seals attracted national indignation simply because it was finally exposed to the public in pictures and on television.

"The reason they're not excited about the steel trap is because they haven't seen it. But they will, sir," Amory told committee Chairman John E. Johnson, D-68 Orrville.

Hanging Baskets Topic Of Monrovia Meeting

The Monrovia Garden Club met Monday evening in the basement of the Five Points United Methodist Church for their April meeting.

Mrs. Allen Follrod, president, opened the meeting and presided over the business session. Mrs. Donald Horney gave the devotion. She read a poem, "Help me to Understand," by Helen Steiner Rice and the 93rd. Psalm followed by prayer.

Twenty-nine members answered roll call by telling their favorite plant to use in a hanging basket. There were eight guests present. Miss Laura Long, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Ruth O'Day, treasurer, gave the financial report. It was announced that the Derby Garden Club are sponsoring a style show on April 21 and an invitation was read to an open meeting of the Derby Club on April 28 Dr. Lloyd Sprouse will be guest speaker and will speak about flowers of the Holy Land.

Plans were discussed concerning the flower sale at the Mt. Sterling Flower Gardens on May 3 and the group planned to serve refreshments there.

Mrs. Frank E. Smith, tour chairman, reported on the club tour by bus to Philadelphia, Pa., and Hershey Gardens and other places of interest on June 24, 25, and 26. A number of members plan to go. The group voted to host the Council of Garden Club meeting in July.

Mrs. Joe sheets Regional director announced that the Spring Regional meeting will be held on May 9 at the Buccaneer Steak House on E. Main St., Route 22 East, in Lancaster. All reservations must be in by May 6.

She also announced that Garden Club members are asked to assist in the bicentennial celebration by decorating everywhere with red, white and blue flowers.

Mrs. Grace Huffman, chairman of the Ways and Means committee reported on the sale of tote bags and also solicited help for the plant sale. The club also voted to have their meeting date put on the Westfall School calendar for the coming year.

Monroe Harbage of Grove City was guest speaker and demonstrator and gave a very interesting and educational talk on Hanging Baskets. He explained the different types of soil, fertilizers, and showed how to mix the soil for the best growing plants. He displayed several hanging baskets and made up quite a few to show.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruth O'Day, Mrs. John Drummond, Mrs. Charles A. Fleming, and Mrs. Josie Seymour.

The May meeting will be held at the Commercial Point United Methodist Church with Mrs. Russell Beckett, Mrs. Laura Angles, and Mrs. Frank E. Smith as hostesses.

SNACKTIME FARE

Espresso and anise toast

Anise Toast

3 eggs, separated

1-16th teaspoon oil of anise

1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind

2 tablespoons lemon juice

½ sugar

1 cup flour, stir to aerate before measuring

Beat egg yolks until thickened and lemon color; add oil of anise, lemon rind and lemon juice. Gradually beat in sugar until very thick. Gradually fold in flour. With clean beater, beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks: fold in egg-yolk mixture. Turn into a greased 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester comes out clean — 35 to 40 minutes.

Loosen sides and turn out on wire rack. Turn right side up; cool. Cut into ¼-inch-thick crosswise slices. Place slightly apart on a cookie sheet and rebake in a 275-degree oven until toasted looking on top — about 25 minutes; turn and continue baking until both sides are now toasted—about 10 minutes longer. Cool on a wire rack. Store in a tightly covered tin box. Makes about 1½ dozen.

VEGETARIAN SUPPER

Baked yams, baked tomatoes, green beans and celery and banana health muffins.

Banana Health Muffins

A moist hot bread with good fruit flavor.

½ cup fine whole-wheat flour

½ teaspoon baking soda

¼ teaspoon salt

½ cup rolled oats

¼ cup butter or margarine

¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar

1 egg

¾ cup finely mashed ripe banana (2 good-size bananas)

2 tablespoons milk

¼ cup unsalted sunflower seeds, toasted if desired

Stir together the flour, baking soda and salt; stir in oats. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg. Add flour mixture, banana, milk and sunflower seeds; stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon into 9 greased muffin-pan cups (each 1-3rd cup capacity) filling about ¾ full — there will be about ¼ cup batter for each. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until well-browned and a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 15 minutes. Serve warm.

Description Of Arizona Given At Solaqua Garden Club Meeting

Mrs. C. W. Hedges and Mrs. Albert Newlon were the hostesses for the regular meeting of the Solaqua Garden Club April 4 at the Ashville Coffee Shop.

Mrs. Hedges read a poem, "A Spring Time Prayer," for the devotion. Roll call was answered by 15 members. The minutes were read and approved by Mrs. John Eitel, secretary, as was the treasurer's report.

The semi-annual dollar day was held and proceeds added to the treasury. Correspondence was read by the secretary which included an invitation to the Derby Garden Club April 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Derby United Methodist Church and the Annual Daffodil Show sponsored by the Granville Garden Club April 19, 1:30 to 8 p.m., and April 20 at the College Town House, Granville.

A letter was received from Thomas Ferguson, Auditor of the State, offering information on Speakers Bureau available to organizations.

A card of thanks was received from Mrs. C. W. Hedges for flowers and cards sent by the club in the death of Mrs. John Hedges.

It was agreed to exchange seeds at the May meeting and when harvested, give either a bouquet of flowers or a basket of vegetables to the donor of the seeds.

Following adjournment of the business meeting, Mrs. James Hott, program chairman, introduced Miss Mary Shortridge, speaker.

She presented a description of the State of Arizona, where she had spent the last four months.

She exhibited samples of the desert soil, seed pods of the vegetation growing throughout the state, displayed pictures of the mountains and the huge cacti native to the State, and described the weather conditions, the terrain, the sheep herds, and other facts concerning Arizona. She also

The Pickaway County Registered Nurses' Association will meet April 15 at 8 p.m. at Pickaway Manor.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. R. L. Rudy, DVM.

SNACKTIME FARE

Espresso and anise toast
Anise Toast
3 eggs, separated
1-16th teaspoon oil of anise
1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 sugar
1 cup flour, stir to aerate before measuring

Beat egg yolks until thickened and lemon color; add oil of anise, lemon rind and lemon juice. Gradually beat in sugar until very thick. Gradually fold in flour. With clean beater, beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks: fold in egg-yolk mixture. Turn into a greased 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester comes out clean — 35 to 40 minutes.

Loosen sides and turn out on wire rack. Turn right side up; cool. Cut into 1/4-inch-thick crosswise slices. Place slightly apart on a cookie sheet and rebake in a 275-degree oven until toasted looking on top — about 25 minutes; turn and continue baking until both sides are now toasted—about 10 minutes longer. Cool on a wire rack. Store in a tightly covered tin box. Makes about 1 1/2 dozen.

VEGETERIAN SUPPER

Baked yams, baked tomatoes, green beans and celery and banana health muffins.

Banana Health Muffins

A moist hot bread with good fruit flavor.

1/2 cup fine whole-wheat flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup rolled oats
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 egg
3/4 cup finely mashed ripe banana (2 good-size bananas)
2 tablespoons milk
1/4 cup unsalted sunflower seeds, toasted if desired

Stir together the flour, baking soda and salt; stir in oats. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg. Add flour mixture, banana, milk and sunflower seeds; stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon into 9 greased muffin-pan cups (each 1-3rd cup capacity) filling about 3/4 full — there will be about 1/4 cup batter for each. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until well-browned and a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 15 minutes. Serve warm.

Description Of Arizona Given At Solaqua Garden Club Meeting

Mrs. C. W. Hedges and Mrs. Albert Newlon were the hostesses for the regular meeting of the Solaqua Garden Club April 4 at the Ashville Coffee Shop.

Mrs. Hedges read a poem, "A Spring Time Prayer," for the devotion. Roll call was answered by 15 members. The minutes were read and approved by Mrs. John Eitel, secretary, as was the treasurer's report.

The semi-annual dollar day was held and proceeds added to the treasury. Correspondence was read by the secretary which included an invitation to the Derby Garden Club April 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Derby United Methodist Church and the Annual Daffodil Show sponsored by the Granville Garden Club April 19, 1:30 to 8 p.m., and April 20 at the College Town House, Granville.

A letter was received from Thomas Ferguson, Auditor of the State, offering information on Speakers Bureau available to organizations.

A card of thanks was received from Mrs. C. W. Hedges for flowers and cards sent by the club in the death of Mrs. John Hedges.

It was agreed to exchange seeds at the May meeting and when harvested, give either a bouquet of flowers or a basket of vegetables to the donor of the seeds.

Following adjournment of the business meeting, Mrs. James Hott, program chairman, introduced Miss Mary Shortridge, speaker.

She presented a description of the State of Arizona, where she had spent the last four months.

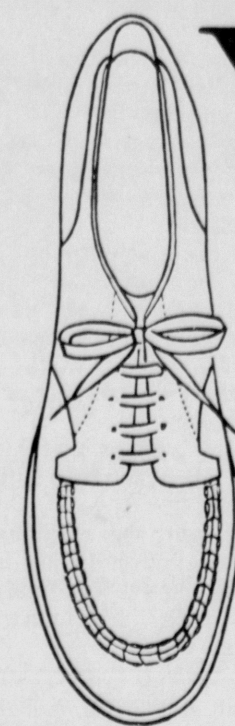

She exhibited samples of the desert soil, seed pods of the vegetation growing throughout the state, displayed pictures of the mountains and the huge cacti native to the State, and described the weather conditions, the terrain, the sheep herds, and other facts concerning Arizona. She also gave a description of the Mormon Temple in Mesa, Ariz.

During the social hour, a dessert course was served by the Ashville Coffee Shop to the 15 club members and two guests, Mrs. Nelson Florence and Mrs. Virginia Kleinlein.

The May meeting will be held May 2 at 1:30 p.m. in the Robtown Parish House with a dessert course carry-in and a spring flower show. Mrs. Charles Huston is chairman.

Chenault's Death Penalty Reaffirmed

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Georgia Supreme Court has upheld the death sentence of a black Dayton, Ohio, man convicted in the shooting death of Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., mother of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

The court, which automatically reviews a death penalty, said Wednesday it found the sentence not excessive or disproportionate.

Marcus Wayne Chenault, a 23-year-old former college student, was convicted last September of murder in the deaths of Mrs. King and a church deacon during services at the Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta.

Chenault was sentenced to death on both counts, each upheld by the court.

Chenault's attorneys claimed there were many legal errors in the trial, including denial of a change in venue. The Georgia high court, however, said there was "no abuse of discretion" by the judge.

Defense attorneys argued Chenault was insane when he killed Mrs. King and the deacon and wounded a member of the congregation. Two psychiatrists testified that Chenault suffered from paranoid schizophrenia at the time of the shootings last June.

Randy Bacote of Atlanta, Chenault's attorney, implied the high court's ruling would be appealed.

"All avenues in his defense are not completed or attempted yet," Bacote said. He would not elaborate.

Meanwhile, Chenault remains in the Fulton County jail in Atlanta, where he has been held since his conviction.

United Brands Payoff Probed

NEW YORK (AP) — United Brands Co., a New York-based multinational corporation, acknowledged today that its late chairman authorized a $1.25-million payment to a Honduras official to gain concessions affecting an export tax on bananas grown in that country.

The Wall Street Journal said today that the Securities and Exchange Commission was investigating a $1.25-million payment made by United Brands and allegations that the recipient was the president of Honduras, Gen. Oswaldo Lopez. The company did not say to whom the money had been paid.

A statement by United Brands said the payment — the company did not call it a bribe — was part of an understanding that an additional $1.25 million would be paid.

Even Amish Feel Inflation's Bite

KIDRON, Ohio (AP) — Though the Amish oppose as luxuries that which other Americans tend to see as necessities, still they are finding they aren't immune to inflation. But they smile and refuse to worry.

At the general store they grumble to each other about the prices, muttering over how much harness costs and asking each other who can afford a new buggy these days. Some have moved away because of rising land costs.

But through the windy cold of their buggies and the snow-covered cramp of their life style, they continue to grin and wave.

"We may grump a bit about prices and things, but nothing really bothers us, not really," says Abe Miller.

"We don't spend money on a lot of fancy stuff," Miller explains, unloading egg crates for the weekly auction in this village near Wooster. "What's necessities for most folks are frills for us."

Still, Ervin Yoder says he is paying more for the leather he uses in his harness shop, and Henry Burkholder admits he has had to raise the price of his hand-built buggies by $100 to $200 each.

In recent weeks several families have sold their lands, moving westward after loading their goods into buggies and then into rail cars. One reason is the cost and shortage of land that makes it difficult to assure there will be acreage for their children when the youngsters are grown.

Few have any use for television sets or movies, corner taverns or heavy tractors, electric lights or automatic washers. Most have neither electricity nor telephone.

They heat their homes with wood and kerosene; they light them with gasoline lamps. They plow their farms with sleek horses, and they make virtually all their own clothes, using treadle sewing machines. Their tools typically are powered by hand or man.

Yoder himself provides the muscle that moves the machinery on which he makes his martingales, belts, boot soles and other leather products — machinery that dates from the turn of the century. He sits on a stool which a jesting customer says Noah rejected because he didn't want antique furniture aboard the ark.

Their beards are untrimmed, their hair curls about their ears; their clothes are dark, drab and loose — because formfitting "clothes of the world" reveal more than conceal, in their eyes, and to be more colorful would be to preen and display vanity.

Ben Miller, another area Amish resident, says they "try to practice a simple way of living, not depending on the things of this world that others seem to find so necessary."

For entertainment they visit neighbors, share ice cream suppers, gather to sing hymns, and hitch up their buggies for summer evening rides.

The Harrison Township Emergency Squad made the following runs recently: March 31, transported Ethel Azbell of Caravan Trailer Court to Mercy Hospital, difficulty in breathing;

April 4, transported Rose Swank of South Bloomfield to Berger Hospital, illness; April 4, transported Mary Jester of Ashville to Berger Hospital, illness;

April 5, transported S. F. Hinkle of Ashville to Grant Hospital, possible stroke; April 5, examined infant Jeff Secrest of Ashville, difficulty in breathing;

April 6, transported John Stover of Ashville to Berger Hospital, laceration to the head; April 6, examined Zeb Powell of Ashville, illness.

The Volunteer Fire Department made the following runs: April 2, field fire west of US Route 23 just south of county line, controlled burning; April 5, trailer fire, Ray Hopkins home at Lockbourne Lodge Trailer Court, faulty furnace control, no damage.

The Ashville Pythian Sisters will hold their annual inspection Tuesday in the K. P. Hall.

Mrs. Estella Kraft, a former Ashville resident, suffered a light stroke recently and is now at the home of her granddaughter, Vickie Schumick, Galena.

Mrs. George Hoffines wishes to thank everyone, especially the ladies of the First English Lutheran Church, for all the cards, flowers, prayers and visits while she was confined in the hospital. A special thanks to Pastor Robert Michelfelder for his visits and prayers.

Mr. Hoffines, a resident of the Circleville Manor, wishes to thank the ladies of the Church and all others for the cards and cookies he received for his birthday which he recently celebrated. All acts of kindness have been greatly appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. Hoffines.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fortner have been vacationing in Florida this week.

Members of the Pythian Sister Degree Staff participated in the initiatory work during the annual inspection of Red Rose Temple in Canal Winchester on Tuesday evening.

The annual Firemen's Spring Consignment Auction is drawing near, May 3, at the Ashville Village Park. Firemen will sell items on consignment or take donations. All types of goods will be accepted. Firemen are also selling tickets on a side of beef to be given away the day of the sale.

John Baum of Kewanee, Ill. visited this past weekend with his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baum and Mary Lee, at their home in Duvall.

The Friendship Circle of the Zion United Methodist Church met at the home of Steve and Dorothy Cook last Thursday evening for the April meeting.

The business meeting was conducted by Violet Currens. Scripture reading was given by Herb Seymour. The Circle is sponsoring a bowling party at the Circle D Lanes in Circleville on April 19 at 6 p.m.

Following the meeting games were played and prizes won by Herb Seymour, Verna Remy and Hazel Ward.

A delicious potluck lunch was enjoyed by Bill and Carol Welsh and Kelley, Dolph and Verna Remy, Herb and Sonia Seymour, Hazel Ward, the Rev. and Mrs. John Currens and the hosts, Steve and Dorothy Cook.

Next month the Circle will meet at the home of Verna and Dolph Remy.

Mrs. Jesse Baum was the honored guest on Sunday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Herman Petty entertained in their home in honor of Mrs. Baum's birthday.

Those attending were Miss Rebecca Baum, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baum and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baum and Mary Lee, all of Duvall; John Baum of Kewanee, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Petty of Reynoldsburg.

Members of the K. P. Bowling League participated in the State Tournament in Cincinnati over the weekend.

Results of the Thursday Morning Crackpots Bowling League for April 3 were: high single game, Joyce Hedges, 179; high three-game series, Joyce Hedges and Dorothy Cook 454; high team game and series, Andy's Market, 704 and 1979.

Mrs. Edward Kuhlwein wishes to thank her friends and relatives for the cards, prayers and gifts of food she received while in Grant Hospital and since returning home.

The Ashville Bicentennial Commission Committee will meet Thursday, in the Village Council House. All committee members are urged to be present.

Sunday dinner guests of Richard and Diane Martin were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Rossiter and Chris, Miss Betty Bolin, William Litten, Eric McManess and son, Miss Gail Rossiter, Donald Laessly, Mrs. Susan Bowman and Alona, Mrs. Walter Rossiter and Miss Lynn Rossiter.

Wind Tunnel Minus Wind

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A wind tunnel project at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base uses no fans, outlets or even wind.

The numerical wind tunnel, as it is called, uses information supplied by computers to determine lift drag and other information usually obtained by a real wind tunnel tests.

Officials claim it offers a real savings to taxpayers.

A wind tunnel test on a World War II B-29 bomber would cost million. Tests on the canceled supersonic transport bomber ranged up to $50 million.

Computer wind tunnel costs: one cent per 100,000 multiplications, the Air Force said. And that's down from the $1.26 it would have cost for the same test in 1952.

Dr. W. H. Hankey of the Aerodynamics Laboratory at the base said wind tunnel testing began early in the decade but the growth of computer technology has increased their usage.

"Since 1970, computer capabilities have doubled each year, and if this rate continues by 1980, computer calculation and actual wind tunnel testing should be at a one-to-one ratio.

Battling for more bed room?

The same ol' routine begins around 11:00 P.M. every night. At the same ol' place. On your cramped, crowded old-fashioned double bed. And you always lose!

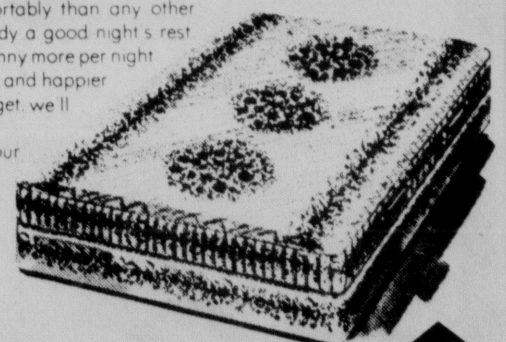

So, be a good sport. Call off the fight! Ask the "Champ" to buy a new modern Queen size Beautyrest. It gives 20% more S-T-R-E-T-C-H out space. (The King size gives 50% more.) Your battles will be over and you'll receive your nightly rewards on retirement. Here's why.

Beautyrest has more than twice the coils of an ordinary mattress. So it gives much more support. And it comes in five firmnesses. So sleepers have a wide selection. But firmness alone can't support your body properly. Unlike hard "boardy" mattresses, Beautyrest offers a very special flexible firmness.

That's because Beautyrest is different. It has separate coils to separately support that part of your body they're under. Hip coils support hips. Shoulder coils support shoulders. While others firmly support your back or sides. By conforming to your shape, Beautyrest gives more support, more comfortably than any other firm mattress. It gives every part of your body a good night's rest.

What about cost? The Queen is only a penny more per night than the old-fashioned size (Oh happy day — and happier nights!) And if there's a battle with your budget, we'll arrange very easy payment terms.

P.S. No need to buy new furniture for your new Queen size. Inexpensive Bed Stretcher rails will make your present bedstead longer and wider. Ask!

Starting At $109.95 Twin Mattress or Foundation

$139.95 Double (ea. piece)

$339.95 Queen 2 pc. set

But firmness alone can't support your body properly. Unlike hard "boardy" mattresses, Beautyrest offers a very special flexible firmness.

That's because Beautyrest is different. It has separate coils to separately support that part of your body they're under. Hip coils support hips, shoulder coils support shoulders, while others firmly support your back or sides. By conforming to your shape, Beautyrest gives more support, more comfortably than any other firm mattress. It gives every part of your body a good night's rest.

What about cost? The Queen is only a penny more per night than the old-fashioned size (Oh happy day, and happier nights!) And if there's a battle with your budget, we'll arrange very easy payment terms.

P.S. No need to buy new furniture for your new Queen size. Inexpensive Bed Stretcher rails will make your present bedstead longer and wider. Ask!

MRS. JOE JENKINS — 474-5542

Raleigh Salyers observed his 89th birthday instead of 98th as stated in last week's news.

The Reverend and Mrs. Ray Mann were last Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Luckhart and Tania of Washington C.H.

Mrs. Arthur D. Robbins of Scottsbluff Neb. spent the week of March 24 in New York City where she attended the Personal and Guidance Association convention.

On her return trip to Scottsbluff she stopped to visit with her father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Robbins, Route 1, Stoutsville.

Mrs. Genevieve Hedges spent Easter weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hedges of Washington C.H. and the following weekend with Mrs. Adeline Wilson of Miamisburg.

The community was saddened to hear of the death of the Rev. Earl C. Bowsher of Corning. He was pastor of the Tarlton South Perry United Methodist Church from 1957 to 1962.

Mrs. Viola Hartranft was hostess at a Turkey dinner with all the trimmings Sunday to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Worley Sr., Robert Jr. and Tamie of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. John Hartley, Route 4; Mr. and Mrs. John Dove, Patricia and Terrie of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Drum, Route 4; Mr. and Mrs. David Hartranft, Trent, Trina, Teryl, Tommy, Tracy and Timmy of Route 4.

Afternoon callers were Mrs. Susan Garrett and daughter Stephanie.

The dinner was in honor of the Worley family returning from Germany after living there for better than three years. It was also in honor of John Hartley and Patricia Dove's birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Clendell Reid were hosts at a family dinner at Norma's Restaurant in Laurelville on Sunday to the following guests: Mrs. Zola Flanigan, Mr. and Mrs. N. Franklin Strous, Steve, Tracy and Kathy, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Strous and Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Strous, Sherry and Kevin.

Thursday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Young were Chuck Wolfe, Chris Graves, Rick Young and Perry Dean Jenkins.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Franklin Strous, Steve, Tracy and Kathy, were Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clendell Reid.

Mrs. Cleo Good and Mr. and Mrs. Clendell were business visitors in Circleville Friday.

The United Methodist Women met in the church social room on Wednesday afternoon, opening the meeting with the hymn "Praise Him," Pauline Pearce led the devotions, reading scripture from the twelfth chapter of First Corinthians and leading in prayer.

Helen Welch read "The Legend of the Dogwood Tree" and Mrs. Pearce read "Plant Happiness" and "The Brussel's Carpet".

The president, Fay Pine, conducted the business meeting and Roanne Spung and Betty McJunkin gave reports. Mrs. Spung and Mabel Cox contributed to the birthday fund.

The program consisted of a vocal solo by Letha Murray, readings by Marie Pine, "A Garden" and "A Child's Definition of Grandma"; reading by Ruth Hunt "Surprise Me, Jesus"; and contest by Lucia Spangler which was won by Pauline Pearce.

Refreshments were served to 18 members and three guests by the hostesses, Ruth Hunt, Alvena Judy and Betty Whitesed.

Guest of honor at a dinner celebrating her 86th birthday at Old Man's Cave Lodge on April 3, was Mrs. Orland DeLong, Route 1, Laurelville. Those present for the occasion were: David Macklin of Casa Grande, Ariz. and Bob Macklin of Claremont, Calif. They are spending the week with their mother, Mrs. George Macklin, Route 1, Laurelville.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jones (Anne Macklin) of Route 4, Circleville were also at the celebration dinner.

The Tarlton Ladies Auxiliary held their monthly meeting with 15 members present. The Ladies want to thank everyone that attended their spaghetti supper. As this was their first supper, they felt they did quite well. They were well pleased.

A ways and means committee was established. Appointed to the committee was Janice Garrett and Betty Kellough.

The Auxiliary decided it would be nice to have tents for the comfort of the people during Fun Day. Carolyn Rayburn was appointed to get two tents. It was approved to purchase some equipment for the Zuxiliary that the women use all the time, new trash cans, staplers and a camera.

The patterns and material were chosen and put aside for the queens and their attendants. The girls were informed where to buy the material.

There will be an ice cream social May 10 from 4 till 7 p.m. at the Tarlton Fire House. It will be homemade ice cream served with your favorite topping and homemade cake. The menu also has Sloppy Joe sandwiches and drinks on it.

On May 13 the Auxiliary will hold a trinket party with Mabel Cox as the hostess. The party will be at 7 p.m. and everyone is invited.

Two Men Complete GTE Course

Karl K. Stalter, Route 2, Laurelville, switchman and Robert E. Derflinger, Route 2, Ashville, COE Installer, have received certificates for completion of a special course at General Telephone Co. of Ohio's Technical Training School at Marion.

The three-week course covers detailed instruction on the operation of each component in the intricate equipment used for direct distance dialing.

A graduate of Berne Union High School, Sugar Grove, Derflinger has been with the company 15 years. Stalter is a graduate of Thurston High School and has been with the company nine years.

Stalter previously completed several other specialized courses in the company's training program. Both work in various exchanges in the Circleville district.

Hall-Adkins Legion Post Plans Fete

Members of the Hall-Adkins Post 134, American Legion, will highlight their observance of the Legion's 56th birthday with a dinner dance Saturday.

Howard J. Henrichsen of Sandusky, the state commander of the American Legion, will be the guest speaker. A Korean veteran, he is a member and past commander of Commodore Denig Post 83 in Sandusky and served as commander of the Ohio Legion's Fifth District, which comprises 10 countries in northern Ohio. He has also been a member of a number of state and national committees of the Legion.

Other special guests will include local public officials and legion dignitaries from all over Ohio.

The American Legion is still actively engaged in the pursuit of a goal which could mean its eventual demise. With a membership of 2.7 million men and women, all veterans of war of the 20th century, the Legion remains firmly dedicated to principles which could bring about that long sought era where there would be no more war veterans from which its membership could be drawn.

Rule On Illegal Searches Hit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio judge has proposed a new law which would allow prosecutors to use evidence obtained during illegal searches.

The proposed law would replace the "exclusionary rule," which forbids the use of evidence obtained by police officers in violation of Fourth Amendment rights.

It would substitute a rule allowing persons to bring lawsuits against police who abuse searches and to make the state liable for damages.

Judge R. Patrick West of the Franklin County Municipal Court proposed the law in a recent edition of the Ohio Bar Journal, publication of the Ohio Bar Association.

West said his proposal is aimed at "the most misunderstood and publicly distrusted rule we must work with."

He said the exclusionary rule is what most people speak of when they talk of coddling criminals — obviously guilty criminals going free because a policeman made a mistake.

Kurfess Urges Tax Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Republican leader said today he would introduce a bill earmarking state income tax revenues to local school support, local governments and property tax reductions.

Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, said the bill would fulfill a Republican party campaign commitment from last fall.

"The public was led to believe that the state income tax enacted in 1971 would substantially solve the fiscal problems confronting public education in Ohio," Kurfess said.

COMMON PLEAS COURT, PROBATE DIVISION NOTICE

All interested parties are hereby notified that the following Administrators and Executors have filed their inventories and appraisements in the Common Pleas Court, Probate Division, Pickaway County, Ohio: No. 75-25987 Walter E. Smyers, Administrator of the estate of Wayne Smyers, deceased. No. 75-26026 Frances M. Noggle, Executrix of the estate of Frank A. Noggle, deceased. No. 75-26019 Evelyn Blue, Administratrix of the estate of Kenneth D. Blue, deceased. No. 75-26007 Margaret D. King, Administratrix of the estate of Edward R. King, deceased.
And that said inventories and appraisements will be for hearing and settlement before the Court on Monday, April 21, 1975 at 9 o'clock A.M. Exceptions to said inventories, if any, must be filed herein on or before April 15, 1975.
Witness my hand and the seal of said Common Pleas Court, Probate Division, Pickaway County, Ohio on this 7th day of April, 1975.
Guy G. Cline, Judge
Common Pleas Court,
Probate Division
April 10, 17, 1975

"The object of the exclusionary rule was to discourage police abuse by keeping them from using the fruits of any dirty business," Judge West said.

"The rule falls far short of its goal. The truth may be twisted to make a fruitful search appear to be lawful. Most judges will strain to find an exception into which such a search might fit in order to uphold it..."

"Police do not favor the rule and feel it hampers legitimate law enforcement," he said. "This combined with public hostility causes the rule to be lacking in moral sanction which is so important to effectiveness of any law."

The result, Judge West said, is a minimum of justice and a maximum of public distrust and antagonism toward the justice system.

The judge noted Chief Justice Warren Burger has called for abolition of the exclusionary rule.

"Chief Justice Burger invited the states to find a replacement for the exclusionary rule, which we must keep and enforce until an effective alternative is available," he said.

"If enough people are interested and push for the needed reform, our whole system of justice could be improved by the abolition of modification of the exclusionary rule," he said.

A SMILE AND TEARS—Stephen Wiesenfeld smiles at Edison, N.J., after learning the Supreme Court had ruled in his favor in a suit contending that the government must pay Social Security benefits to widowers with minor children. In an 8-0 decision, the high court ruled that a federal law restricting benefits to widows is unconstitutional sex discrimination. Wiesenfeld's son Jason, 2, is crying because he is upset at having his photo taken.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Widow Sick Of Being Tagalong

DEAR ABBY: I read your column all the time and usually agree with you, but the answer you gave the mother who had a running battle with her teen-age children because they wouldn't keep their rooms picked up is wrong. Dead wrong!

I am a 16-year-old boy who came to live with my father and stepmother last summer. Before I came here, I had to jump from my door to the bed (if I could see it.) Now, my room is so neat and orderly, it looks like the operating rooms of a hospital.

I fought it as long as I could but my stomach and my stepmother finally won. I got no breakfast until my bed was made. She put a clothes basket in my closet, and nothing got laundered unless it was in that basket. Everything left on the floor went into a "mess box" in the garage, and I had to go there to retrieve it, which was a lot of trouble. On my day for the car, unless my room was vacuumed, no keys!

I'm glad my stepmother didn't do what you advised that other mother to do ("Say no more, keep their doors closed, and enter their rooms only to change the beds, and rake it once a week. When they get tired of living in that mess, they'll clean it up. Until then, don't let them aggravate you. It's not worth it.")

Want to know something, Abby? I've come to like it this way. I can take my friends into my room now.

PROUD OF ROOM AND WELL-FED

DEAR PROUD: Since your stepmother's formula worked for you, it's worth recommending. Thank her for hatching the idea, and thank you for sharing it.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that widows aren't asked over to their sisters' homes for a visit now and then? Are they afraid we might steal their husbands?

Nonsense! I don't want anyone's husband. But I notice that when someone in the family has a birthday or a shower, I am first on the list. I am called and asked to please pick up this or that because "You have the time."

It would be so nice to be invited over just once for a visit (I don't mean for dinner) on a Sunday or an evening just because someone wanted my company.

I never thought this could happen to me, but it did. Then my sister said: "If anything happens to my husband, I'll move in with you."

I thought: "NEVER!"

ANOTHER WIDOW
DEAR WIDOW: If she says it again, why don't you say it aloud? It would do you a lot of good to say it. And her, to hear it.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old. Last year I fell in love with a young man who was 20. Our relationship gradually became more serious. We talked of marriage, but made no definite plans.

He was recently killed in an auto accident. It was then that I learned to my great surprise that he had taken out a life insurance policy and made ME the beneficiary. (The amount I am to get is $50,000.)

All the family he had was a mother and two brothers. Some people feel that I should sign the money over to his mother.

I don't think I am being selfish, but I think that since he left it to me, I should have it. Neither his mother nor I am financially handicapped.

"WAITING"

DEAR WAITING: Since it was left to you, it belongs to you.

Radishes and carrots, rocks and clowns - all signs of spring. And there are books to help your child appreciate this beautiful season.

Planning a vegetable garden? Try "The Carrot and Other Root Vegetables," a photographic study with full page color shots. The development of a radish from seed to luscious vegetable should inspire even pre-schoolers to try their hand at growing this satisfying crop. "Vegetables from Stems and Leaves" by the same author is similar and includes potatoes, lettuce and other garden products.

Maritime Office For Cleveland Seen Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Wednesday he believes Cleveland has a good chance of being named the site of the new Great Lakes Regional Office of the Maritime Administration.

Taft said he was "very encouraged that Cleveland will get the nod" following an extensive discussion by telephone with Robert J. Blackwell, assistant secretary of maritime affairs.

"It's the logical place," Taft said, noting Cleveland is the site of the headquarters of major shipping companies and other organizations associated with lake shipping.

Taft said the office would bring in a payroll of about $250,000 a year and the stimulation of commerce in revitalizing the Great Lakes trade would put new life into the economy and job markets of all Ohio ports.

There are many colorful paperbacks available to help identify the common rocks your child will probably be picking up in the warm days ahead. Encourage your child to be a rockhound; it's an interesting and inexpensive hobby.

Did you attend the circus with your children this week? It might be fun to read aloud a silly circus story like Dr. Seuss's "If I Ran the Circus." "C is for Clown" is an adventure story that can be read in only a few minutes. And that's about as long as a child wants to sit when spring is in the air.

Baseball is in the air these days, too. Matt Christopher writes about young, inexperienced kids who are eager to become good ballplayers. Third graders will enjoy reading "Look Who's Playing First Base" and "The Kid Who Only Hit Homers." Older boys may want to try Alfred Slat's latest baseball book, "Matt Gargan's Boy." It's a timely story of a boy trying to help his team to a winning season and a new girl at second base! Feminists will applaud the outcome of this story.

They will also be delighted with an up-to-date version of an old folktale, "The Queen Who Couldn't Bake Gingerbread." Without divulging the ending, let it be said that this wise queen knows a great deal besides what's going on in the kitchen. Paul Galdone, the illustrator, also brings us a fresh interpretation of "The Three Little Pigs." Basically, the story is the familiar one of childhood. But this marvelous artist has created the fattest, smartest little pig and the drooliest, cleverest wolf in many a book. This is pure delight.

Keep reading - it's fun in any season.

Scioto County Raids Net 19

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Raids around Scioto County Tuesday and Wednesday netted 19 persons after a grand jury issued 12 indictments on drug related charges, the county prosecutor's office said.

Twelve persons were indicted by the grand jury and the rest were arrested along with the 12 were who picked up following the grand jury action, the office said.

The indictments followed a five-month investigation by the prosecutor and the state attorney general's office.

Gang Take On Gambling Said Huge

BOSTON (AP) — Illegal wagering, particularly on sports events, provides a major source of income for organized crime in the Northeastern part of the country, federal officials have told the National Gambling Commission.

James Newpher, head of the FBI's Boston office, estimated that at least $2 billion is generated annually by illegal betting on sports events, horses and numbers in Massachusetts alone. He said organized crime makes a minimum of $166.6 million in profit each year from its Massachusetts operation with the largest dollar of volume coming from sports gambling.

Witnesses before the Gambling Commission Wednesday generally opposed the legalization of sports betting but one, Massachusetts Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, advocated it vociferously because, he said, it could provide new, needed revenues for the state.

Crane called on the federal government "to take every action in its power, including a thorough review of federal taxes now imposed on legal gambling, to facilitate the operation of gambling by those states which wish to do so."

Massachusetts Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti said he could support legislation for offtrack betting in the state to gain increased revenues but not wagering on sports events such as baseball, basketball, hockey and football.

Phantoms Ejecting Crewmen

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—The Navy is investigating two incidents of unexplained ejections from F-4 Phantom jet planes during routine training missions near here this week.

The latest incident occurred Wednesday near Hatteras Inlet, a Navy spokesman said, when both the pilot and his radar intercept officer ejected from the plane.

The aircraft crashed into the Atlantic Ocean, the Navy said, but both men were unharmed.

The Navy said a Coast Guard cutter picked up the plane's pilot, Lt. Eugene T. Dailey, 27, of Virginia Beach and the radar intercept officer, Lt. (j.g.) William G. Kerr, 26, of Steubenville, Ohio, within 30 minutes of the 9:35 a.m. incident.

The first ejection occurred Monday afternoon over the ocean east of Oregon Inlet.

Lt. Robert Hardy, 28, radar intercept office on the flight, ejected during a practice flight and no parachute was sighted, a Navy spokesman said.

A search for Hardy ended without success and the Navy has listed him as missing.

Sanity Hearing Set For Ruppert

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—James Ruppert, 40, accused of slaying 11 members of his family, is scheduled to appear at a sanity hearing May 12.

Butler County Common Pleas Judge Fred B. Cramer said the hearing will determine whether the unemployed draftsman will stand trial June 16.

Cramer, at arraignment Monday, ordered 30 days of psychiatric evaluation of Ruppert.

Ruppert pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the 11 indictments charging him with aggravated murder.

The victims included his mother, Mrs. Charity Ruppert, 65, his brother, Leonard II, 42, his brother's wife, Alma, 38, and their eight children ages 4-17.

A second, national fermentation — which takes place either in the bottle or a large sealed container — produces the bubbles in champagne.

SACRIFICE ON PRINCIPLE—Dr. John S. Kelly, left, his wife and six of their 14 children sit in their home at Chicago Heights, Ill., south of Chicago. Dr. Kelly may lose his home because he refuses to pay $3.14 in taxes he withheld the last two years because he says that amount would have been used to finance the voluntary abortion program at

Stormy Weather Hampers Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cold and stormy weather not only has hampered spring field work and slowed growth of winter wheat but has dampened hopes of cattlemen for a quick recovery of grass pasture.

As of April 1, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday, the average condition of pastures and ranges was rated "poor to fair" nationally. For many livestock operators, the situation means supplemental feeding costs continue to rise.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said grazing conditions were rated at 75 per cent on April 1, compared with 79 last year and an average of about 77 per cent.

As used by USDA, a rating of 65 to 79 per cent is considered poor to fair, 80 per cent and over is good to excellent.

"Good to excellent conditions found largely along the Pacific coast, Ohio valley and mid-Atlantic states are more than offset by lower conditions in the Southeast coast, Southwest and Plains states," the report said. "Very poor conditions (50 to 64 per cent) are reported from northern New Mexico to the Canadian line."

Although not described in the report, reasons for the debilitated condition of grazing land this spring include last summer's dry weather, a larger reliance on grazing when livestock operators saw grain prices soar and a continued buildup in beef herds.

Thus, substantial pressure has been put on cattlemen to use grazing land at maximum capacities. Warm, moist weather will be needed soon to rejuvenate those areas.

The USDA report indicated that April 1 grazing prospects in parts of the Southwest were much improved from severe drought conditions reported a year ago. Those areas, including much of west Texas and southern New Mexico, were described as "good to excellent" on the first of the month.

But in eastern Colorado and in other sections of the Plains the April 1 grazing situation reflected a lack of moisture and, in some cases, severe drought.

Plastic Bomb Killed Hood

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland police source said Wednesday the bomb that killed numbers racketeer Alex "Shondor" Birns March 29 was a plastic explosive made exclusively for the military.

The police source said such an explosive could be obtained only by theft or through military personnel.

The bomb that blew Birns to pieces in his rented car behind Christy's Lounge was said to have the force of eight sticks of dynamite.

Police said they are still trying to determine how the bomber bypassed the elaborate electronic burglar alarm system on the car and how the bomb was detonated.

In 1911, the Mona Lisa was stolen from the Louvre in Paris, but was later recovered.

Weather Bureau Changes Made

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — John M. Robinson was appointed Wednesday as meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service office in Cincinnati, succeeding Paul Dailey, who was transferred to Des Moines, Iowa.

Robinson has been with the weather service in Cincinnati since 1957 and has been assistant chief meteorologist since 1971.

Gang Take On Gambling Said Huge

BOSTON (AP) — Illegal wagering, particularly on sports events, provides a major source of income for organized crime in the Northeastern part of the country, federal officials have told the National Gambling Commission.

James Newpher, head of the FBI's Boston office, estimated that at least $2 billion is generated annually by illegal betting on sports events, horses and numbers in Massachusetts alone. He said organized crime makes a minimum of $166.6 million in profit each year from its Massachusetts operation with the largest dollar of volume coming from sports gambling.

Witnesses before the Gambling Commission Wednesday generally opposed the legalization of sports betting but one, Massachusetts Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, advocated it vociferously because, he said, it could provide new, needed revenues for the state.

Crane called on the federal government "to take every action in its power, including a thorough review of federal taxes now imposed on legal gambling, to facilitate the operation of gambling by those states which wish to do so."

Massachusetts Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti said he could support legislation for offtrack betting in the state to gain increased revenues but not wagering on sports events such as baseball, basketball, hockey and football.

Phantoms Ejecting Crewmen

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—The Navy is investigating two incidents of unexplained ejections from F-4 Phantom jet planes during routine training missions near here this week.

The latest incident occurred Wednesday near Hatteras Inlet, a Navy spokesman said, when both the pilot and his radar intercept officer ejected from the plane.

The aircraft crashed into the Atlantic Ocean, the Navy said, but both men were unharmed.

The Navy said a Coast Guard cutter picked up the plane's pilot, Lt. Eugene T. Dailey, 27, of Virginia Beach and the radar intercept officer, Lt. (j.g.) William G. Kerr, 26, of Steubenville, Ohio, within 30 minutes of the 9:35 a.m. incident.

The first ejection occurred Monday afternoon over the ocean east of Oregon Inlet.

Lt. Robert Hardy, 28, radar intercept officer on the flight, ejected during a practice flight and no parachute was sighted, a Navy spokesman said.

A search for Hardy ended without success and the Navy has listed him as missing.

Sanity Hearing Set For Ruppert

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—James Ruppert, 40, accused of slaying 11 members of his family, is scheduled to appear at a sanity hearing May 12.

Butler County Common Pleas Judge Fred B. Cramer said the hearing will determine whether the unemployed draftsman will stand trial June 16. Cramer, at arraignment Monday, ordered 30 days of psychiatric evaluation of Ruppert.

Ruppert pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the 11 indictments charging him with aggravated murder.

The victims included his mother, Mrs. Charity Ruppert, 65, his brother, Leonard II, 42, his brother's wife, Alma, 38, and their eight children ages 4-17.

A second, national fermentation — which takes place either in the bottle or a large sealed container — produces the bubbles in champagne.

SACRIFICE ON PRINCIPLE—Dr. John S. Kelly, left, his wife and six of their 14 children sit in their home at Chicago Heights, Ill., south of Chicago. Dr. Kelly may lose his home because he refuses to pay $3.14 in taxes he withheld the last two years because he says that amount would have been used to finance the voluntary abortion program at

Stormy Weather Hampers Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cold and stormy weather not only has hampered spring field work and slowed growth of winter wheat but has dampened hopes of cattlemen for a quick recovery of grass pasture.

As of April 1, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday, the average condition of pastures and ranges was rated "poor to fair" nationally. For many livestock operators, the situation means supplemental feeding costs continue to rise.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said grazing conditions were rated at 75 per cent on April 1, compared with 79 last year and an average of about 77 per cent.

As used by USDA, a rating of 65 to 79 per cent is considered poor to fair, 80 per cent and over is good to excellent.

"Good to excellent conditions found largely along the Pacific coast, Ohio valley and mid-Atlantic states are more than offset by lower conditions in the Southeast coast, Southwest and Plains states," the report said. "Very poor conditions (50 to 64 per cent) are reported from northern New Mexico to the Canadian line."

Although not described in the report, reasons for the debilitated condition of grazing land this spring include last summer's dry weather, a larger reliance on grazing when livestock operators saw grain prices soar and a continued buildup in beef herds.

Thus, substantial pressure has been put on cattlemen to use grazing land at maximum capacities. Warm, moist weather will be needed soon to rejuvenate those areas.

The USDA report indicated that April 1 grazing prospects in parts of the Southwest were much improved from severe drought conditions reported a year ago. Those areas, including much of west Texas and southern New Mexico, were described as "good to excellent" on the first of the month.

But in eastern Colorado and in other sections of the Plains the April 1 grazing situation reflected a lack of moisture and, in some cases, severe drought.

Plastic Bomb Killed Hood

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland police source said Wednesday the bomb that killed numbers racketeer Alex "Shondor" Birns March 29 was a plastic explosive made exclusively for the military.

The police source said such an explosive could be obtained only by theft or through military personnel.

The bomb that blew Birns to pieces in his rented car behind Christy's Lounge was said to have the force of eight sticks of dynamite.

Police said they are still trying to determine how the bomber bypassed the elaborate electronic burglar alarm system on the car and how the bomb was detonated.

In 1911, the Mona Lisa was stolen from the Louvre in Paris, but was later recovered.

Weather Bureau Changes Made

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — John M. Robinson was appointed Wednesday as meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service office in Cincinnati, succeeding Paul Dailey, who was transferred to Des Moines, Iowa.

Robinson has been with the weather service in Cincinnati since 1957 and has been assistant chief meteorologist since 1971.

Ohio House OKs Antigambling Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In an effort to clarify the state's gambling laws and stamp out casino-style operations, the House has approved a bill providing criminal penalties for all gambling except by charitable groups exempt from federal income tax.

The bill was approved Thursday by an 86-6 vote and sent to the Senate.

It would specifically outlaw slot machines and roulette wheels, but permit churches, fraternal groups and most recognized charities to operate bingo and other games of chance.

With the exception of the state lottery, gambling is forbidden by the Ohio Constitution, but the Revised criminal code exempts operations which turn over all proceeds to "charitable purposes" after expenses are deducted.

A recent Summit County Common Pleas Court decision overturned the charitable gambling provision after widespread casino-type wagering broke out in the Akron area.

The decision, which prompted raids on bingo parlors as well as more sophisticated gambling operations, is subject to judicial review and possible reversal in higher state courts.

Rep. Ronald Weyandt, D-13 Akron, who introduced his bill before the common pleas ruling, said "citizens who are not 'quote' charities, are organizing themselves as charities and conducting games of chance."

Weyandt said the proposed law

Ashville Girl To Compete In Pageant

DEBBIE DAWS

Debbie Daws, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Daws, Ashville, is a candidate in the Miss Ohio Teen-Ager Contest scheduled for July 11-12 at the Neil House Motor Hotel in Columbus.

Sponsored by the Comaco Construction Management Co., Miss Daws will participate in the state contest, where she will be judged on her scholastic achievements, civic contributions, poise, personality and appearance. It is not a talent or bathing suit contest.

She is a member of the 4-H Horsemanship Club, Latin Club, school newspaper staff, reporter and photographer and has helped collect for UNICEF and muscular dystrophy. An honor student, she hopes to be a veterinarian.

Contestants will be judged by well-known, competent educators and civic-minded citizens from their respective states. There will be a separate judging on the contestant's themes on the subject, "Why I Am Proud To Be An American".

Each state winner will have her expenses paid to the national finals Aug. 21-23 at the Plaza Inn in Kansas City, Mo. where she will compete for the title of Miss Teen Queen USA.

Applications are now being accepted and interested girls can obtain them by writing Official Certification Office, for Miss Ohio Teen-Ager, Box 406, Rockton, Illinois, 61072.

Black Walnut Proves Tranquilizer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John E. Wilhelm uses black walnut wood as a tranquilizer and wins prizes in the process.

Two years ago the Columbus fire fighter and father of six set up a woodworking shop in the basement of his home.

Last month he accepted the second of two major awards for his handicraft. Columbus Builders Exchange gave Wilhelm one of its 12 individual citations, a special recognition award for "crafted fine woodworking in furniture."

A month earlier Mechanix Illustrated magazine sent Wilhelm its Certificate of Merit and Golden Hammer award.

It all began when Wilhelm felt the need to "slow down a little bit."

"I had wanted to do woodworking at the time I graduated from South High School," he said. "But, at the time the only job I could find was in sheet metal. Then, 16-17 years ago I joined the fire department and still worked off days in the sheet metal shop."

"With two jobs and the family activities we all like camping and outdoor activities I didn't have much time for a hobby. About two years ago sheet metal work began to get a little scarce and I started feeling the need to slow down a little bit."

"I thought if I started some woodworking maybe some of the boys might get interested in it, too."

Wilhelm said. "I work with wood for the enjoyment of it." But, he admitted he sets high standards for himself. "A man sets his standards, puts his goals relatively high and has a sense of satisfaction when he comes close to them."

"I would like to do better work than I do," he said. "But there are limits when you work at home. I would like to spray, but can't because of the hazard of working in the basement."

Reds Edge Dodgers

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Some guys will try anything to get a hit off Mike Marshall.

Dave Concepcion resorted to the unconventional Wednesday night—and it worked to give the Cincinnati Reds a 4-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in National League baseball play.

"I've had a lot of trouble with him in the past," said the Cincinnati's All-Star shortstop.

Concepcion, who spent most of the night in the chilled Reds dugout recovering from a groin injury, was called on in the ninth inning to pinch hit, with the potential winning run at third base.

Numb from the 40-degree cold which gripped Riverfront Stadium, he decided he had to warm up fast for his date with Marshall, the Los Angeles' relief ace.

He stepped into the 100-degree swelter of the clubhouse sauna.

"I did some quick exercises and headed back," said Concepcion.

His game-ending looping single to center scored Darrell Chaney to give the Reds their second straight come-from-behind victory over the Dodgers.

"I can hit, but I can't field," said Concepcion, who was injured in the season opener Monday.

On the Reds bench, Manager Sparky Anderson was exhorting Chaney to break for home. "I knew the game was over if he would just run."

Chaney hesitated, then broke when the ball dropped in. He sidestepped catcher Steve Yeager and slid head first toward home plate with the winning run.

Minutes earlier, the light-hitting Chaney had jolted Marshall with a single that scored the tying run.

"He (Marshall) gets you all messed up. You don't have any idea what to expect," said Chaney, a .205 lifetime hitter. He drove in Ken Griffey, who tripled off Marshall to open the dramatic ninth.

Marshall earlier had choked off Reds rallies in the seventh and eighth, dousing two basesloaded threats.

The finish came amid controversy for the second straight game between the two rivals. The Dodgers complained that time out should have been called because a ball rolled out of the Cincinnati bullpen as Marshall was entering his windup.

The umpires turned down the argument on the grounds that Marshall had committed himself before the ball was spotted.

Pedro Borbon, 1-0, picked up the victory.

Reds starter Jack Billingham left in the seventh, trailing 3-1. He gave up a two-run homer to Bill Buckner in the fifth.

Andy Messersmith started for the Dodgers, but exited in the seventh with the Reds threatening with runners at second and third.

A crowd of 26,150 turned out, ending a streak of 10 straight sellouts between the two clubs.

Westfall Loses To Southeastern

Westfall dropped a 15-1 decision to Southeastern Wednesday on the winner's diamond.

Westfall scored its lone run in the top of the first. Southeastern had four in the first, three in the second, one in the fourth and seven in the sixth.

Craig Moore, Chris Riddle and Tony Mosely shared mound duties for the Mustangs. They gave up 11 hits, walked six and fanned five.

Backer was on the mound for Southeastern, allowing seven hits, two walks and struck out six.

Mack Dick has a pair of singles for the Mustangs, Terry Stevens slapped a double while Jim Fausnaugh, Dave Malone, Mosley and Riddle each had a single.

The Mustangs, 2-5, will be at Circleville Friday.

Local Swimmers In State Meet

Three local swimmers, Ann Titus, Dave Cook, and Steve Penn, who are members of the John Bruce Swim Club, competed in the Ohio AAU Indoor State A Meet during the past weekend at Upper Arlington.

Ann, swimming in the 15-18 age group, was second in the 100-yard butterfly with a time of 1:00.6. She was eighth in the individual medley and 11th in the backstroke.

Dave, 13-14 age group, placed fourth in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:09.3 and was a member of the seventh place medley relay team.

Steve, 15-18 age group, was ninth in the 100-yard freestyle with 50.5, 11th in the individual medley with 2:07.3 and 13th in the 100-yard backstroke with 59.4. He was also a member of the sixth place medley relay team and the seventh place freestyle relay squad.

Circleville Drops Tilt To Hillsboro

Circleville suffered its third straight one-run loss Wednesday when the Tigers dropped an 8-7 decision to visiting Hillsboro in a South Central Ohio League clash.

The Tigers were holding a 7-4 lead going into the sixth inning but Hillsboro plated two runs in the top of the sixth and won the contest with another pair of markers in the seventh.

Hillsboro opened the scoring with a run in the first but the Tigers bounced back with a single tally in the bottom of the frame to knot the count.

The Indians tallied again in the second to grab a 2-1 edge but the Tigers tied things up with a run in the bottom of the third.

Circleville jumped out in front in the bottom of the fourth with two runs. The big blow being a triple by Jerry Strawser.

Hillsboro tallied a pair in the top of the fifth and once again things were even. But the Tigers appeared to break the game open in the bottom of the fifth when Pat McNaughton blasted a triple with the bases loaded.

However, Hillsboro tallied four times in the last two innings to nab the victory.

Phil Roll was on the mound for the Tigers and went all the way. He allowed eight hits, seven walks and struck out seven. Leamber was the winning pitcher for the Hillsboro Indians.

16 Hits Propel LE Braves To 18-4 Victory

A 16-hit attack and a 3-hit pitching performance propelled Logan Elm to an 18-4 win over visiting Mohawk Wednesday. It was the seventh win in as many starts for the Braves.

Steve Marshall was the winning pitcher. He went five innings, fanning six and walking two in his best pitching performance of the year. He was relieved by freshman Tony Crist who worked one inning, fanning two and walking one.

Eleven Braves hit Mohawk pitching. Randy Pontius smacked a single and a bases loaded double, Scott Pontius hit three singles in four trips to the plate, Chuck Cave singled twice, driving in one run, Steve Marshall also singled twice and drove in a run, Rob Black, Greg Justus and Jerry Scanlan all hit RBI singles, Jeff Reichelderfer, Steve Rawlins, Tim Fouch and Jeff Collins all singled. The game was called at the end of 5½ innings when a light rain shower started falling.

The Braves play at Bloom Carroll tonight with Derek Morris scheduled to start on the mound. Last night was the first game of the season for veteran catcher Greg Justus, who is recovering from a foot injury.

Brent Mancini, Randy Thomas and Tim McNaughton all added a single to the Red and Black attack.

Circleville is now 1-3 for the season and will host Westfall 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Black Hawks Face 'Must' Hockey Tilt

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Stan Mikita has an idea about how the Chicago Black Hawks, perennial contenders for the Stanley Cup, can stay alive in their playoff series with the Boston Bruins:

"We have to pray a lot, and hope a couple of them get run over by a steamroller."

Mikita and the Hawks must win tonight or be kayoed by the Bruins, who took a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three first-round National Hockey League playoff series by routing Chicago 8-2 in Boston Tuesday night.

The Hawks, with the home-ice advantage tonight, will try and figure a way to stop Boston's Phil Esposito, who broke out of a scoring slump with three goals Tuesday night against his brother, Tony, the Chicago goalie.

Phil thought his brother, who was in goal for 70 of Chicago's 80 games during the regular season, definitely was not up to par.

"Why don't you tell my brother to start eating?" he said. "I've never seen him so haggard."

Chicago is one of four teams whose NHL seasons could end tonight.

The New York Rangers must win on the road to stay alive against the New York Islanders in their commuter series; the Toronto Maple Leafs hope to even their series against the Los Angeles Kings at Maple Leaf Gardens, and the St. Louis Blues will be at home in their effort to even things with the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Charlotte Man Leads Bowling Tournament

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — George Pappas of Charlotte, N.C., averaged 220 for 12 games Wednesday to hold down first place after the opening two rounds of the Professional Bowlers Association's $85,000 tournament here.

The little righthander, whose last crown came early in 1974, started the tournament with a 1,360 pinfall for the first sixgame round and was slotted second, 31 pins behind Craig Mueller of Union, N.J.

A record 450 players took part in National League baseball games in 1974.

Valley Riding Club Holds Elections

The Circle Valley Riding Club met recently at the home of Dick and Darlene Jackson and held an election of officers.

The following officers were elected: Mike Kempton, president; Richard Reisinger, vice president; Jo Ann Reisinger, secretary; Charlene Shaw, treasurer; Linda Kempton, news reporter.

Bob Shannon and Richard Reisinger were elected to the Board of Directors for 1975-76. Jo Anne Reisinger and Steve Fullen are currently serving their 1974-75 term on the Board.

The Riding Club will sponsor a registered Quarter Horse show May 24, approved by both the American Quarter Horse Association and the Ohio Quarter Horse Association.

The registered halter classes will begin at 8 a.m. with the registered performance classes scheduled for the afternoon. Woodrow Estes, approved AQHA judge, will be judging all registered classes.

An open contest show, featuring a quarter mile race, will be held the same evening. These timed events will be open to both registered and non registered horses.

Membership to the Circle Valley Riding Club is open to anyone with a sincere interest in horses. For further information contact: Mike Kempton, 474-7716, Richard Reisinger, 986-6045, or Steve Fullen, 993-2858.

Cardinals Blank Expos, 4-0

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Bob Forsch has a pretty good baseball job. When he's doing it right, a full day's work only takes one hour and 58 minutes.

That's all the time the St. Louis Cardinals' right-hander needed Wednesday to dispatch the Montreal Expos 4-0 with a two-hit beauty.

"Everything felt real good," said Forsch, who faced the minimum of 27 batters. "I felt just as strong at the end as I did at the beginning."

Both the hits that Forsch allowed were erased on double plays. Thus the 6-foot-4, 200-pounder was able to keep from working up a sweat in his first start of the year.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 and the Houston Astros crushed the Atlanta Braves 14-2. The San Diego Padres' season opener against the San Francisco Giants was rained out for the second day in a row.

Forsch, extending his winning streak to five games over two seasons, allowed just one hit to the Expos in the first six innings, an infield single by Barry Foote. Gary Carter then hit into a double play.

The only other hit off the Cardinal pitcher was a single to center by Gary Scott leading off the seventh. Scott was wiped out when Foote hit into a double play. Between the second and seventh innings, Forsch retired 12 straight batters, most of them on fastballs.

Forsch got all the support he needed when the Cardinals scored two runs in the first inning on an RBI single by Reggie Smith and a sacrifice fly by catcher Ted Simmons. Simmons drove in his second run of the game with a double in the seventh inning and Ted Sizemore's RBI hit in the eighth wrapped up the St. Louis scoring.

Reds 4, Dodgers 3
Darrel Chaney and Dave Concepcion lashed run-scoring singles in the ninth inning off relief ace Mike Marshall to lead Cincinnati to its second straight victory over Los Angeles, the defending National League champion.

Down 3-0 at one point, the Reds rallied with a run in the sixth on a double by Ed Armbrister and a single by Joe Morgan, then scored again in the seventh on a sacrifice fly by Chaney. Marshall came into the game when Dodger starter Andy Messersmith faltered in the seventh.

Astros 14, Braves 2
Cliff Johnson and pitcher James Rodney Richard each knocked in two runs in a sixrun fourth inning and the Astros struck for eight more runs in the seventh en route to an easy

Committee Prepares 'Hike-Bike'

The first annual "Hike-Bike", sponsored by the Parent, Staff and Friends Volunteer Association of Orient State Institute, will be held April 27 beginning at 11 a.m. Registration begins at 10 a.m.

The "Hike-Bike" is wholly supported by the Ohio Association for Retarded Citizens (OARC) and the National Association for Retarded Citizens (NARC).

The local event is in conjunction with the many "Hike-Bikes" taking place in Ohio on April 27 according to Lt. Gov. Richard Celeste, honorary state chairman.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff is honorary chairman for the local event.

Participants of all age groups will ride their bicycles over a rural route of 25 miles, starting at the intersection of Routes 56 and 22 (west of Circleville) and ending at the Teays Valley High School.

Transportation will be made available to return participants and their bikes back to Circleville after the five-hour event.

Beginning at Route 56, the route continues to Westfall High School, goes right on the Williamsport-Darbyville Road, and left on the Circleville-London-Northern Road into Darbyville. It then proceeds on Route 316 into South Bloomfield and into Ashville. Riders will take Long Street to Route 752 and to the Teays Valley High School.

Checkpoints will be set up every four miles where each rider will have his registration ticket marked with the number of miles ridden. Refreshments will be provided at each stop.

Also bicycle repair will be made available along the route along with first aid by the fire and Sheriff's departments.

Each rider will have sponsor sheets in which he will procure specific amounts of money for each mile completed in the hike. The money will then be collected by the rider, after the hike, and return it to his school representative or to Byron Bushman, H Annex at the Orient State Institute.

Thieves Take Guns, Tools

Thieves took $446 worth of guns and cooking ware from an uninhabited dwelling located on the Harrisburg-Darbyville Road, owned by Edward Combs, Route 1, Orient.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy John Bost, the thieves broke a window in a door enabling them to gain entry to the house, sometime between 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Investigation of the theft is continuing.

According to R. E. Jones, owner of the property, the thieves entered the unlocked building, sometime between March 23 and April 8 and removed the tools.

Rangers Bow To Minnesota, 3-2

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

AP Sports Writer

The Texas Rangers, Manager Billy Martin's pick to dethrone the Oakland A's as baseball champions of the American League West, are going about it in strange ways ... like rally-killing baserunning, costly errors and, most of all, losing.

The Rangers made it two bums in a row when they bowed to the Minnesota Twins 3-2 Wednesday night. Elsewhere in the AL, the Chicago White Sox rallied for three runs in the ninth inning and defeated the A's 7-5, the Kansas City Royals edged the California Angels 7-6 on Hal McRae's RBI single in the ninth and the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Boston Red Sox 7-4.

Minnesota capitalized on two Texas throwing errors and Tony Oliva's second home run in as many games in edging the Rangers, who had a 10-3 record last April but are 0-2 in 1975. "I guess you can say we're off to a slower start," said pitcher Jim Bibby.

Eric Soderholm's sacrifice fly in the second inning and Oliva's homer in the fourth gave Minnesota a 2-0 lead. The Twins scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth. Soderholm singled with two out, stole second and continued to third on catcher Jim Sundberg's wild throw. Steve Braun followed with a routine grounder back to the mound but Bibby threw wildly to first, and Soderholm scored.

Texas chased Joe Decker in the sixth on two-out singles by Willie Davis and Jeff Burroughs and walks to Mike Hargrove and Jim Spencer, forcing in one run. Ray Corbin walked Toby Harrah, forcing Burroughs home, but ended the rally by retiring Dave Nelson on a

White Sox 7, A's 5

Chicago's Pat Kelly lived up to the old adage that if at first you don't succeed, etc., etc. Kelly delivered a pinch single in the ninth inning Tuesday night but center fielder Bill North cut down the potential tying run at the plate.

Wednesday night, Kelly went two bases better. His pinch triple off relief ace Rollie Fingers with two out in the ninth inning drove in the tying and go-ahead runs after an intentional walk violated the book by putting the winning run aboard. Sure enough, it backfired.

Royals 7, Angels 6

McRae drove in the winning run with his fourth hit, a runscoring single with two out in the ninth inning, and then threw out the potential tying run at the plate in the bottom of the ninth.

Amos Otis drew a one-out walk from reliever Chuck Dobson, stole second and continued to third on a wild throw. Otis held as Mickey Scott retired John Mayberry on a grounder, but McRae, who had two singles, a double and a home run, greeted Orlando Pena with a single.

Brewers 7, Red Sox 4

George Scott and Robin Yount drove in two runs apiece for Milwaukee. Scott gave the Brewers the lead in the third inning with a two-run single off loser Bill Lee and Milwaukee raked Lee for three more runs in the fourth on Sixto Lezcano's doubles, singles by Darrell Porter, Pedro Garcia and Yount and Bob Coluccio's sacrifice fly.

Yount drove in another run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth. Meanwhile, Pete Broberg allowed only four hits in his first start for Milwaukee until he tired in the seventh.

Player Eyes Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A testy Gary Player shrugged off the challenge of golf's newest wonder boy, Johnny Miller, and prepared for another faceoff with Jack Nicklaus today in the 39th Masters Tournament.

"I could win this tournament," the 38-year-old South African said as if to quell speculation that the season's first major championship shapes up as a Nicklaus-Miller shootout at Augusta National.

"If you have a favorite charity, I will bet you $500 I was 30 strokes better than Miller — maybe as much as 40 — in the four majors last year," Player said. "I feel that the best judge of a player is how he does in the four big championships. That's how history will judge us all."

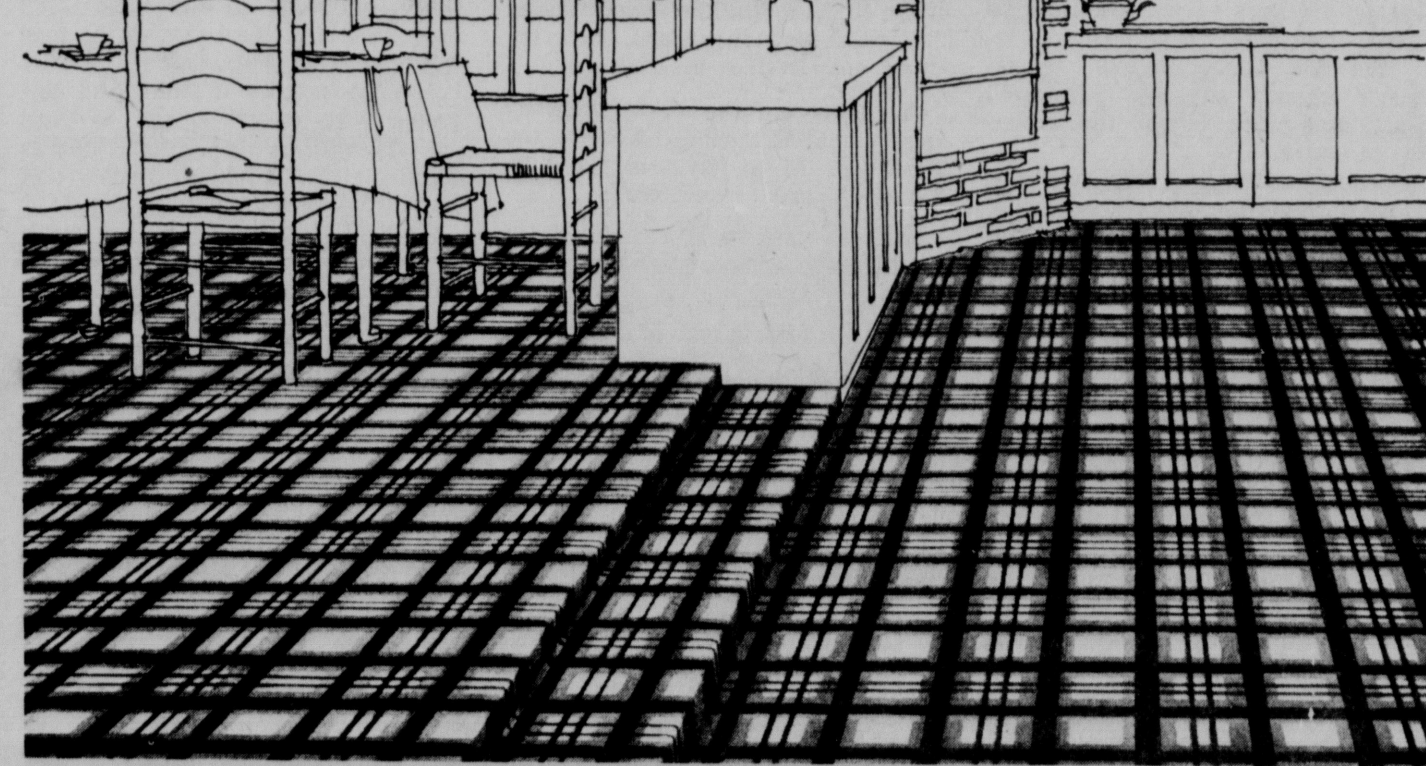

The informal comment in the players' dining room after Wednesday's final day of practice sent researchers thumbing through the record books and, sure enough, Player would have won his bet.

Based on performances in the U. S. and British Opens, the Masters and PGA, which represent the Grand Slam, the intense part-time farmer from Johannesburg was 39 strokes better than Miller, six better than Nicklaus.

MONTICELLO, Ind. (AP) — Police evacuated a six square block area Wednesday after five cars of a freight train derailed on the west edge of Monticello.

State police said one car from the Penn Central train contained a dangerous gas. They feared that lifting the damaged car might cause a leak. However, the car was righted without any problems, troopers said.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carfrey on the birth of a new daughter born March 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Crego and Mr. and Mrs. Arland Rogers celebrated their 31st wedding anniversaries on Thursday by attending the Bob Braun Show in Cincinnati. Both couples were married on the same day, March 28. Arland and Omer served in the armed forces together.

Earl and Melva Trego and Orville and Lula Rasor are home after spending several months in Florida.

Mrs. Emma McGhee was pleasantly surprised Monday night after the Daughters of America Lodge meeting.

Gas Rate Hikes To Be Sought

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. has terminated its natural gas rate contracts with 22 suburban municipalities and will seek higher rates.

A spokesman for the utility said the firm is seeking uniform rates for all its southwestern Ohio customers.

CG&E is seeking a 19.3 per cent increase in its Cincinnati rates in an appeal to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Anesthesiologists Stage Walkout

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Mansfield's seven anesthesiologists refused to work Wednesday on all but emergency cases until they can get more malpractice insurance.

Twenty-five operations were canceled at the city's two hospitals.

The seven members of Anesthesia Associates said they would refuse all operations except emergency cases until they get at least $2 million of insurance. They said their insurance firm has refused to give them more than $300,000.

Her daughters Betty and Evelyn had a little birthday party for her.

A beautifully decorated cake and ice cream were served to all the members. Everyone enjoyed the evening and wished Emma many more happy birthdays.

The Daughters of America Founders Day banquet will be held at the Red Boot on Harrisburg Pike on April 25. Serving will begin at 6:30 p.m. Guests are given a choice of ham or chopped steak. Reservations should be in by April 21.

Ohio Woman Still Waiting For Arrival Of Viet Orphan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"I'm just trying to keep from climbing the walls," said Ann Scholtz as she waits for a call about the Vietnamese orphan she and her husband have adopted but haven't seen.

Mrs. Scholtz said Wednesday she is hoping the child will arrive in Chicago before the weekend, when her husband, Nick, will be home.

telephone in her Columbus home.

"I'm just trying to keep my footprints off the ceiling," Mrs. Scholtz said.

The Scholtzes had been waiting to adopt a Vietnamese orphan for more than two years. They got a picture of the 9-month-old child in February and were told to expect her in May.

"Friday morning when we heard about the plane crash, my God," said Mrs. Scholtz. Her fears that the baby may have been killed aboard the plane that crashed at Saigon Airport were soon put to rest.

She said a caseworker called and said the orphan, whom the Scholtzes plan to call Andrea Rose, had arrived in San Francisco in good shape and was ready to travel.

Her husband was a Marine helicopter pilot in Okinawa when they first decided on adopting a war orphan, she said. After he was transferred to North Carolina, they made contact with Friends for All Children in Boulder, Col.

Following a three-month study of the Scholtzes, they were notified they had been accepted. Her husband, in the meantime, left the Marines after 5½ years and rejoined the U.S. Treasury Department, where he is a special agent.

A native of Newark, Scholtz, 30, is in Washington, D.C., for retraining. He plans to be home this weekend, and Mrs. Scholtz is hoping the new daughter is there.

The Scholtzes have another child, Christopher, 4. "He can't wait," she said. "Every day it's, 'When's my little sister coming home.'"

Ohio CCC Camps Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo lawmaker who heads a new House committee is cranking out his own series of bills designed to help Ohio move out of its economic doldrums.

The latest brainchild of Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, can be traced back to the Great Depression of the 1930s.

He and two fellow Toledoans — Reps. Barney Quilter, D-47, and Casey Jones, D-45, want to set up 10 Civilian Conservation Corps centers. They would be reminiscent of the CCC camps of the early Roosevelt Administration that led to numerous public works projects being built by those who otherwise would have been unemployed.

Wilkowski said Wednesday his Economic Affairs and Federal Relations Committee is putting finishing touches on the bill, aimed primarily at creating jobs for an estimated 3,000 Ohio youths. They would receive room and board and $100 a month in salary, he said.

The Toledo attorney estimated the cost of his project at $50 million. He said he was considering "funding alternatives."

He said there is a possibility of federal funds. If not, he said he may ask that the appropriations be taken out of welfare and education funds for the next biennium.

Ohio CCC Camps Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo lawmaker who heads a new House committee is cranking out his own series of bills designed to help Ohio move out of its economic doldrums.

The latest brainchild of Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, can be traced back to the Great Depression of the 1930s.

He and two fellow Toledoans — Reps. Barney Quilter, D-47, and Casey Jones, D-45, want to set up 10 Civilian Conservation Corps centers. They would be reminiscent of the CCC camps of the early Roosevelt Administration that led to numerous public works projects being built by those who otherwise would have been unemployed.

Wilkowski said Wednesday his Economic Affairs and Federal Relations Committee is putting finishing touches on the bill, aimed primarily at creating jobs for an estimated 3,000 Ohio youths. They would receive room and board and $100 a month in salary, he said.

The Toledo attorney estimated the cost of his project at $50 million. He said he was considering "funding alternatives."

He said there is a possibility of federal funds. If not, he said he may ask that the appropriations be taken out of welfare and education funds for the next biennium.

Firemen Return To Tire Fire

Circleville firemen were called again Wednesday night to 582 E. Main St., the scene of the tire fire Tuesday night. Several complaints were received at the fire station that the pile of tires was smoldering.

Firemen dispatched at 8:55 p.m. to the property of Larry Metz and applied water to the smoldering tires using 175 feet of booster line. Metz advised the fire department that he planned to bury the debris today.

Twenty minutes earlier, firemen were called to a burning field on Island Road. Phillip Moore, owner of the field, had set fire to the area not realizing that such practice was against the new fire regulations. Firemen extinguished the blaze by beating it.

Big Boost In Auto Plate Cost Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans would pay $25 instead of $10 for their annual passenger car license plates under a bill introduced Wednesday by Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati.

He said the additional revenue would be used to help counties and other local subdivisions replace dangerous bridges and repair secondary roads under their jurisdiction.

He said the $10 annual fee "is among the lowest in the United States. It is substantially low."

At the same time, the Cincinnati Democrat said hearings around the state by the House Transportation and Local Government Committee last year showed many bridges and highways "are in a sad state."

Some bridges have been declared unsafe, requiring "school children to have to get off their buses and walk across them," he said.

Revenues derived from the license fees—exclusive of the $5 permissive tax levied by counties—are shared by the state with its local subdivisions for road and bridge improvements, Bowen noted.

Also introduced in the Senate Wednesday was a measure by Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Midletown, to require bicycles ridden at night to be equipped with reflectors.

The House received six new bills, among them proposals to increase penalties for harming patients in mental institutions and permitting school boards to opt between purchasing school buses from a centralized state agency or at the local level through competitive bidding.

WEST CENTRAL CENTRAL EAST CENTRAL

Cloudy and cool tonight with a chance of showers. Lows in the low and mid 30s. Cloudy on Friday with highs in the upper 40s and low 50s. Chance of rain 30 per cent tonight, 20 per cent on Friday.

SOUTHWEST SOUTHEAST

Cloudy with a chance of showers tonight and Friday. Highs on Friday in the mid to upper 50s. Lows tonight in the mid to upper 30s. Chance of rain 30 per cent tonight and Friday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A southwesterly flow of air brought cloudy skies to Ohio today and a chance of light rain through tonight. With the exception of some light showers forecast for southern Ohio, rain is expected to end by Friday morning. In the northern part of the state, some light snow mixed with rain was predicted.

Highs today and Friday were expected to reach the 40s north and the 50s south. Lows tonight in the upper 20s and 30s are forecast.

It was mostly cloudy over the state Wednesday night, with temperatures ranging from the 30s to the 40s near the Ohio River. Some light snow fell over northeast Ohio, and scattered light rain elsewhere.

Early this morning, readings around the state were generally in the 30s and the 40s south.

Court Files 66 Cases

A total of 66 new cases were filed in March by the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. According to the report issued by Judge William Ammer, a total of 70 cases were terminated during the same period leaving 228 cases pending on the last day of the month. There were 232 pending on the first day of the month.

New cases filed were as follows: six personal injury; 21 criminal; 32 domestic relations and seven others.

Cases terminated during March fell into the following categories: three personal injury; 30 criminal; 27 domestic relations and ten others.

Eleven of the old cases were terminated after a court trial; two by pretrial; 23 by dismissal; 32 by default and two by transfer to another court or judge.

The majority of the cases left pending at the end of the month were domestic relations cases including divorce actions. The next most numerous category was personal injury.

Prehistoric Site Bill's Flaws Shown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to protect prehistoric Indian burial grounds from desecration has run into opposition from sympathetic archaeologists who claim it would hamper their research, without controlling developers and amateur "pot hunters."

Martha Otto of the Ohio Historical Society told legislators Wednesday there was serious concern over accidental destruction of sites by land-altering projects. She also decried "wanton looting by individuals who plan to sell artifacts or just want a few curios for their coffee tables."

However, Mrs. Otto testified: legislation that attempts to put restraints on archaeological activities will be about as effective in meeting its intended goals as were the laws dealing with prohibition.

The bill, in its second hearing before the House Energy and Environment Committee, would impose a 90-day waiting period before allowing excavations at Indian burial mounds or earthworks.

Archaeologists or land developers would be required to notify the Ohio Historical Society which would use the three months to survey the site and determine its archaeological value. Violators would be subject to up to six months imprisonment and a $1,000 fine, although after the 90 days diggings could proceed regardless of the society's recommendations.

Mrs. Otto associate curator of a four-person archaeological staff, and a string of other witnesses, insisted the proposal was unenforceable.

"It is impossible for the society even with unlimited funds to patrol the entire state, preventing archaeological excavations that do not comply with the provisions of this bill," she said.

An Indian delegation sat impassively in the hearing room as witness after witness expressed sympathy with the intent of the measure, but questioned its implementation in such areas as individual property rights.

"They are concerned with the constitutional rights of landowners," Tukemas, principle chief of the Shawnee said after the hearing. "We were the owners of this land. There is no stated concern for the immoral and illegal disturbance of Indian graves." Several Indians testified in support of the proposal last month.

Students Launch Drive For Funds

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Students at Indiana State University have launched a campaign to raise funds to bring a fellow student's family in South Vietnam to the United States.

The student, Vo Van Tho, 33, said his wife and four children were driven from their home by Communist forces and made their way to Saigon. Tho and his wife formerly were teachers at the University of Hue and also worked for the South Vietnamese government.

Tho recently completed work on his master's degree at Indiana State. He earned a straight A average.

Funds Available For Assistance

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Lt. Gov. Robert D. Orr says $500 million in Federal Economic Development Administration funds are available for assistance programs.

He urged Indiana cities, towns and other local government units Wednesday to apply for funds to help solve problems of high unemployment, underemployment and low-income families.

Orr, noting that state officials received information on the program only recently, said the deadline for applications is Tuesday.

Patient Abuse Rapped In Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Majority floor leader Rep. William L. Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, has introduced legislation to "crack down" on abuse of mentally ill and retarded patients by employees of state institutions.

Mallory said he had received a "deluge of complaints from various institutions across the state" regarding an inability to take legal recourse against employees accused of abuse.

"It is not unusual that employees charged with abuse will be put back in the same ward," he said.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A good day for dealing with superiors, with persons in authority generally. Any or all should be receptive to your ideas.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A better day than you may anticipate. Especially favored: personal relationships, creative pursuits, travel plans.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your imagination highly stimulated and, while you may not capitalize on new ideas immediately, they should be happily productive in the future.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): There is evidence that competition is on the move. Don't be left at the post. Good judgment and prompt action needed.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Once you have made up your mind, back up decisions with vigorous action. You may run into some opposition, but you can win with reason and logic.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): There's a tendency now to let things slide. But without careful thinking and planning, complexities could arise to plague you later. Face up to future requirements.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You won't find any hiding place for your problems, so you might just as well face up to them and work them out. But do so in a relaxed manner and with no anxiety.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Achievement will be largely up to yourself now. You won't have much planetary help, but YOU can light up the fires of enthusiasm and good will.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Emphasize your stability. Many will look to you for support and guidance. Without overtaxing yourself, give help wherever you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Mixed planetary influences. Good opportunities for advancement abound in your area but you may have to search them out for yourself. Personal interests highly favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A period of adjustment. Profit by experience and study the methods of successful people. Make moves designed to enhance position, insure gains.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Mixed influences. Check impulsive comments, action. You could step into trouble with little effort through wrong or heedless tactics.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with great versatility, unflagging zeal, optimism and enthusiasm; are original and brilliant in your thinking. Your energy is boundless and, once you set yourself to the goals you desire, you never give up until you have achieved them. You could be a scintillating lawyer, eventually a statesman; would make an place for your problems, so you might just as well face up to them and work them out. But do so in a relaxed manner and with no anxiety.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — For a family, cheered the Brooklyn Dodgers and fed up with television and ponder drink as a reasonable alternative, something usually occurs to restore my hope for the tube.

Tonight's something is "I'm With Ya, Duke," a short and brilliant sketch by playwright Herb Gardner about a 78-year-old Manhattan grocery store owner facing surgery after a near-fatal heart attack.

It's the last miniplay in ABC's "Happy Endings," a special by comedian Alan King's production company. Four humorous sketches were written for the show by Peter Stone, Neil Simon, me ... it's a sign of the whole Jules Feiffer and Gardner thing. Time's got my heart ...

The four playwrights all are friends of King, who says he got them to contribute to the show partly by imposing lines continually roll out of no requirements other than a happy ending for each slice-of-life sketch. Stone turns in a so-so piece in which Lauren Bacall is. portrays a consumer affairs commissioner whose marriage to an advertising executive — Robert Preston — is getting stale.

Simon's piece concerns two hobos — James Earl Jones and King — who discuss such things as beans and the recession. It's slightly better, but not a first-rate Simon effort.

Feiffer's contribution is a Thurberesque look at a middle-aged man — Art Carney — who is totally bewildered as to how he came to head a one-wife, two-teen-ager, one-infant clan which squabbles a lot.

It's a good offering, but don't miss the Gardner finale or I will have my pal Marvin the Torch come see you some night.

In the piece, King plays Sam Margolis, a Russian Jew who immigrated to New York, started his own, raised

Encouraged Invention

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thomas Jefferson, first supervisor of the U.S. Patent Office when he was Secretary of State, was an inventor of note although he never applied for a patent.

Among his inventions was an improvement in the mold board of the plow, an important contribution to U.S. agricultural development. He also invented a folding chair or stool that could be used as a walking stick, and he developed many other ideas. "Certainly an inventor ought to be allowed a right to the benefit of this invention for some certain time," he wrote. "Nobody wishes more than I do that ingenuity should receive liberal encouragement."

Bobby Hull Named Player Of The Year

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Hull of the Winnipeg Jets was named Player of the Year in the World Hockey Association for the 1974-75 season by the Hockey News. The weekly publication, in announcing its annual awards today, selected Sandy Hucul of the Phoenix Roadrunners as the WHA Coach of the Year. Bill Hunter, vice president and general manager of the Edmonton Oilers, was chosen as the league's Executive of the Year. The award-winners are picked by the publication's editorial staff.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: HALF OF US ARE BLIND, FEW OF US FEEL, AND WE ARE ALL DEAF. — WILLIAM OSLER
(© 1975 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A good day for dealing with superiors, with persons in authority generally. Any or all should be receptive to your ideas.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A better day than you may anticipate. Especially favored: personal relationships, creative pursuits, travel plans.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your imagination highly stimulated and, while you may not capitalize on new ideas immediately, they should be happily productive in the future.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): There is evidence that competition is on the move. Don't be left at the post. Good judgment and prompt action needed.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Once you have made up your mind, back up decisions with vigorous action. You may run into some opposition, but you can win with reason and logic.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): There's a tendency now to let things slide. But without careful thinking and planning, complexities could arise to plague you later. Face up to future requirements.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You won't find any hiding place for your problems, so you might just as well face up to them and work them out. But do so in a relaxed manner and with no anxiety.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Achievement will be largely up to yourself now. You won't have much planetary help, but YOU can light up the fires of enthusiasm and good will.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Emphasize your stability. Many will look to you for support and guidance. Without overtaxing yourself, give help wherever you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Mixed planetary influences. Good opportunities for advancement abound in your area but you may have to search them out for yourself. Personal interests highly favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A period of adjustment. Profit by experience and study the methods of successful people. Make moves designed to enhance position, insure gains.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Mixed influences. Check impulsive comments, action. You could step into trouble with little effort through wrong or heedless tactics.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with great versatility, unflagging zeal, optimism and enthusiasm; are original and brilliant in your thinking. Your energy is boundless and, once you set yourself to the goals you desire, you never give up until you have achieved them. You could be a scintillating lawyer, eventually a statesman; would make an outstanding writer, artist or musician. Traits to curb: stubbornness, excessive materialism. Birthdate of: Charles Evans Hughes and Edward Everett, U.S. statesmen.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — For a family, cheered the some reason, every time I get fed up with television and ponder drink as a reasonable alternative, something usually occurs to restore my hope for the tube.

Tonight's something is "I'm With Ya, Duke," a short and brilliant sketch by playwright Herb Gardner about a 78-year-old Manhattan grocery store owner facing surgery after a near-fatal heart attack.

It's the last miniplay in ABC's "Happy Endings," a Duke Snider, he went away. special by comedian Alan King's production company. howling, "I'm with ya, Duke, Four humorous sketches I'm with ya." Never dreaming were written for the show by for a moment he wasn't with Peter Stone, Neil Simon, me ... it's a sign of the whole Jules Feiffer and Gardner. thing. Time's got my heart ...

The four playwrights all and Shimkin the thief's got are friends of King, who says my food store by now ... he got them to contribute to Warm, wild and wonderful the show partly by imposing lines continually roll out of no requirements other than a the rambunctious old man, happy ending for each slice—superbly played by King. It-of-life sketch.

Stone turns in a so-so piece comedy should be and rarely in which Lauren Bacall is. portrays a consumer affairs commissioner whose marriage to an advertising executive — Robert Preston — is getting stale.

Simon's piece concerns two hobos — James Earl Jones and King — who discuss such things as beans and the recession. It's slightly better, but not a first-rate Simon effort.

Feiffer's contribution is a Thurberesque look at a middleage man — Art Carney — who is totally bewildered as to how he came to head a one-wife, two-teen-ager, one-infant clan which squabbles a lot.

It's a good offering, but don't miss the Gardner finale or I will have my pal Marvin the Torch come see you some night.

In the piece, King plays Sam Margolis, a Russian Jew who immigrated to New York, started his own, raised

Brooklyn Dodgers and otherwise lived a full life of growls and love. One day he wakes up in a hospital, the victim of a coronary occlusion and mutters: "Gotta get out of here! Who's minding the store? Shimkin the thief."

AUCTION

98 acre Pickaway County Farm, known for past 23 years as the Arthur R. Hartsock farm.

Located approximately 6 miles East of Circleville on U.S. Route 22 at the Pickaway Fairfield County Line Road. "Watch for Signs."

Sale to be held on the premises on SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1975 at 1:00 P.M.

This farm consists of approximately 98 acres of level to rolling farm land, fenced, suitable for farming or other uses. Has frontages on two highways and access to double corners; ideal for business; has unlimited possibilities.

Has a two story brick home in good condition, large basement, oil furnace, extra large electric water heater, 1 1/2 baths; barn and other outbuildings, 3 drilled wells at different locations.

Located in a prosperous community in Logan Elm School District, near churches and markets.

NOTE: Several new homes have been built in this area recently and this appears to be a growing community.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS: Tract 1, South of Route 22, consisting of the house, all farm buildings and approximately 31 acres of bluegrass, will be offered and bid upon first; Tract 2, North of Route 22, consisting of approximately 67 acres will be offered and bid upon second. Thereafter, the tracts will be combined and offered and bid upon as a single parcel. The sale or sales will then be made in whichever manner has produced the higher price (or combined price).

Deposit of 10 per cent of selling price required at time of sale; balance to be paid upon delivery of deed; possession with deed. Closing date on or before May 30, 1975.

NOTE: Purchaser will receive immediate plowing privileges. Any and all bids are subject to examination for approval or rejection by the sellers.

For information or inspection call the auctioneer. For special appointment for inspection call W. H. Hartsock, Chillicothe, Ohio, 614-775-8178.

Cambodian Orphans Now Being Lifted

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Plans are being made to fly hundreds of Cambodian orphans to the United States and Australia amid vehement criticism from American diplomats that the Indochina babylifts are a "phony emotional issue."

World Vision, a U.S. relief agency, is planning to send more than 200 children to families waiting for them in the United States. Two free-lance American journalists, Denis Cameron and Lee Rudakewych, are trying to organize an airlift of at least 350 orphans to Australia.

So far only 22 children have left.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman stressed that the only part it is going to play is to provide transportation out of the country for the journalists' babylift. He said the Embassy had not intervened with the Cambodian government for permission to evacuate the orphans.

Reliable U.S. sources said the Embassy agreed to help Cameron and Rudakewych only after explicit instructions from Washington.

"It's a phony issue to take people's minds off the real events here," one U.S. diplomat said. "The American people have to get some phony emotional issue. That was the same with the POWs and now they have manufactured the orphan issue."

This attitude was shared by other Western officials here.

Several key U.S. Embassy officials regard the babylifts from Saigon and Phnom Penh as an attempt to salve American feelings of guilt over Indochina and to swing American public opinion behind the Ford administration's efforts to continue military aid to the area.

Minister of Refugees Kong Orn said the cabinet had recently passed a special measure allowing the orphans to depart without the usual formalities.

"The only solution is to let them go," he said. "We favor this evacuation to countries like the United States, Canada, Australia or Europe. These countries can take care of them."

Cameron and Rudakewych hope to get their operation moving this weekend.

They said they have 350 children aged "from zero to 14" ready to leave and that the Embassy has agreed to fly them to another Asian capital — as yet not determined — where Australian aircraft will pick them up.

Prosecution Winding Up Connally Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecution, moving to wind up its case in the bribery trial of John B. Connally, is continuing to trace bank records of the so-called "cigar box money."

The prosecutors are focusing on $10,000 in cash that their star witness, Jake Jacobsen, says Connally handed to him in a cigar box in Houston on Oct. 29, 1973.

Jacobsen says the money was for use in a cover-up of two illegal $5,000 gifts he says the former treasury secretary took from him in 1971. Connally is charged with accepting the money for supporting higher dairy support levels.

The prosecution hopes to complete its case today.

During Wednesday's session Asst. Special Prosecutor Frank M. Tuerkheimer questioned three present and former FBI agents, a Treasury Department currency specialist and seven assistant Federal Reserve officials from around the country.

None could contradict Jacobsen's story about the money. According to their records, all of the bills could have been in general circulation at the time Jacobsen says he got them from Connally.

The most recent date that any of the bills were recorded as being in the hands of the Federal Reserve banking system or the Treasury Department was Aug. 29, 1973. That is two months before the alleged cigar-box transfer.

Jacobsen turned the money over to prosecutors March 7, 1974, saying he had kept it in a bank vault and in a drawer in his bedroom since getting it from Connally.

Jacobsen said it was the first of two batches of cover-up cash that Connally gave him. The second $10,000 is the money found in Jacobsen's safe deposit box in Austin, Tex., he said.

Modern-Day Art Goes To Dogs

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Some people have long contended that modern art has gone to the dogs. Now they have proof.

Dogs in the Mississippi Valley around Rock Island have been invited to submit their creative works in a competition Sunday sponsored by the QuadCity Dog Obedience Club.

"We got the idea when Alexis Boyar, Afghan hound, won the $50 Valley Weaver's prize at the Mid-Mississippi Valley Show in Davenport last October," club president Judith Masat said.

"The art community was somewhat stunned when Alex's chewed mitten won the prize," she said.

In 1788 harsh salt laws were credited with helping bring about the French Revolution.

Civil Service Exams Set To Follow New Ordinance

Civil Service examinations creating a new position at the Circleville Police Department, locating a chief for the city Fire Department, and shoring up competitive positions in the water and sewer departments have been scheduled Monday, May 19.

The Circleville Municipal Civil Service Commission will conduct the testing at 7 p.m. in city council chambers.

Examinations will be given for police patrolmen, a Captain of the police department, Fire Chief, sewage treatment plant operator, water treatment plant operator, and distribution maintenance personnel for the water department.

Applications may be obtained at the Office of the Commission in the city building or from any commission member. They must be returned no later than 4 p.m., Friday, May 16.

The Police Department will be attempting to add five qualified patrolmen to its ranks to attain its quota of 13 uniformed patrolmen. Starting salary for patrolmen is $8,008 per year for a 40-hour work week with time and a half benefits for additional hours.

Persons wishing to complete the examination for patrolman must be a resident, of the State of Ohio for at least six months, must be between the ages of 21 and 36, and must be in good physical condition.

Persons who successfully pass the examination must submit to a physical examination, must live within the city limits or in a 10-mile radius of Circleville, and must have a high school diploma or its equivalent.

To qualify as a patrolman, persons must have vision of no less than 20-30 in one eye with at least 20-50 in the other, both correctable to 20-20 with either glasses or contact lenses.

Persons applying for patrolmen positions are eligible to receive an additional credit of 20 per cent on the examination if a passing score is obtained and if they have been honorably discharged from the U.S. Armed Forces.

The Captainship position with the police department is new. Persons eligible have to hold the rank of sergeant.

The Police Department currently has four men eligible to take the examination, Larry Pontious, Leroy Hawks, Jerry Smallwood, and Wes Barton.

department with a chief, a captain, three sergeants, and 13 patrolmen.

Three lieutenants at the Circleville Fire Department are eligible to take the examination for chief. The department currently has four lieutenants, but one does not meet the time requirement of one year.

Those eligible are acting chief Glen Jones, Mike Brown and Ron Sowers.

Under a new city ordinance, the department will be revamped to include a chief, a captain, and three lieutenants. However, the captain's examination cannot be given at the same time as the test for chief.

When the captain's post is filled, Acting Chief Jones said the department has a qualified man ready to move into the vacant lieutenant's post.

The department is fairly stable with regards to firemen. They are operating at full quota with an eligibility list.

The examinations for the water and sewer positions will mean that the current provisional appointment list could be abolished in favor of a certified eligibility list.

The jobs, based on a 40-hour work week with time and a half for overtime, pay yearly wages of $7,975 for sewage plant operator; $7,649 for water plant operator; and $7,649 for distribution maintenance personnel.

Officers of the civil service commission are George Young, chairman; James B. Bailey, vice-chairman; and V. L. Hawks, secretary.

Strike Hits Newton Falls

NEWTON FALLS, Ohio (AP) — The 32-member city work force, including police, walked off the job today in a dispute over wage negotiations, City Manager William Craig said.

Volunteer firemen weren't involved.

Craig said the city offered an eight per cent wage increase in talks Wednesday night but that the members of Local 506A of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees began calling in sick at midnight and the strike was on.

Craig called the walkout an illegal strike prohibited by the contract that includes a clause providing reopening of wage negotiations.

Heath To Conduct Symphony Orchestra

BONN, Germany (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Edward Heath will make his foreign debut as an orchestra conductor this weekend.

During a performance by the London Symphony Orchestra, Heath will conduct one of the the works on a program to be performed in Cologne on Friday and here on Saturday, according to organizers of a concert tour.

Funds Distributed

Pickaway County will receive $12,500 in the April distribution of $5,276,159.81 in Local Government Fund money, according to State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

Under the Local Government Fund formula, the county receives eleven-twelfths of the amount while the municipalities receives the remaining one-twelfth.

Cambodian Orphans Now Being Lifted

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Plans are being made to fly hundreds of Cambodian orphans to the United States and Australia amid vehement criticism from American diplomats that the Indochina babylifts are a "phony emotional issue."

World Vision, a U.S. relief agency, is planning to send more than 200 children to families waiting for them in the United States. Two free-lance American journalists, Denis Cameron and Lee Rudakewych, are trying to organize an airlift of at least 350 orphans to Australia.

So far only 22 children have left.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman stressed that the only part it is going to play is to provide transportation out of the country for the journalists' babylift. He said the Embassy had not intervened with the Cambodian government for permission to evacuate the orphans.

Reliable U.S. sources said the Embassy agreed to help Cameron and Rudakewych only after explicit instructions from Washington.

"It's a phony issue to take people's minds off the real events here," one U.S. diplomat said. "The American people have to get some phony emotional issue. That was the same with the POWs and now they have manufactured the orphan issue."

This attitude was shared by other Western officials here.

Several key U.S. Embassy officials regard the babylifts from Saigon and Phnom Penh as an attempt to salve American feelings of guilt over Indochina and to swing American public opinion behind the Ford administration's efforts to continue military aid to the area.

Minister of Refugees Kong Orn said the cabinet had recently passed a special measure allowing the orphans to depart without the usual formalities.

"The only solution is to let them go," he said. "We favor this evacuation to countries like the United States, Canada, Australia or Europe. These countries can take care of them."

Cameron and Rudakewych hope to get their operation moving this weekend.

They said they have 350 children aged "from zero to 14" ready to leave and that the Embassy has agreed to fly them to another Asian capital — as yet not determined — where Australian aircraft will pick them up.

Prosecution Winding Up Connally Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecution, moving to wind up its case in the bribery trial of John B. Connally, is continuing to trace bank records of the so-called "cigar box money."

The prosecutors are focusing on $10,000 in cash that their star witness, Jake Jacobsen, says Connally handed to him in a cigar box in Houston on Oct. 29, 1973.

Jacobsen says the money was for use in a cover-up of two illegal $5,000 gifts he says the former treasury secretary took from him in 1971. Connally is charged with accepting the money for supporting higher dairy support levels.

The prosecution hopes to complete its case today.

During Wednesday's session Asst. Special Prosecutor Frank M. Tuerkheimer questioned three present and former FBI agents, a Treasury Department currency specialist and seven assistant Federal Reserve officials from around the country.

None could contradict Jacobsen's story about the money. According to their records, all of the bills could have been in general circulation at the time Jacobsen says he got them from Connally.

The most recent date that any of the bills were recorded as being in the hands of the Federal Reserve banking system or the Treasury Department was Aug. 29, 1973. That is two months before the alleged cigar-box transfer.

Jacobsen turned the money over to prosecutors March 7, 1974, saying he had kept it in a bank vault and in a drawer in his bedroom since getting it from Connally.

Jacobsen said it was the first of two batches of cover-up cash that Connally gave him. The second $10,000 is the money found in Jacobsen's safe deposit box in Austin, Tex., he said.

Modern-Day Art Goes To Dogs

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Some people have long contended that modern art has gone to the dogs. Now they have proof.

Dogs in the Mississippi Valley around Rock Island have been invited to submit their creative works in a competition Sunday sponsored by the QuadCity Dog Obedience Club.

"We got the idea when Alexis Boyar, Afghan hound, won the $50 Valley Weaver's prize at the Mid-Mississippi Valley Show in Davenport last October," club president Judith Masat said.

"The art community was somewhat stunned when Alex's chewed mitten won the prize," she said.

In 1788 harsh salt laws were credited with helping bring about the French Revolution.

A LITTLE HELP—Mrs. Linda Geise, advisor of the Life Science Club at Nicholas Drive School, explains a procedure for dissecting a worm to Marc Sherman. Mrs. Geise is co-advisor for the 4-H Club with Mrs. Rhonda Tennant.

CONCENTRATION—Pam Packard, a member of the Life Science Club at Nicholas Drive School, uses a razor blade to explore a worm. The Club is a pilot 4-H Project. The students, who have already dissected a fetal pig, will create projects on their discoveries.

BUDDING SURGEONS—These sixth graders in the Life Science Club at the Nicholas Drive School explain each move to their advisor, Mrs. Linda Geise, as they dissect a worm.

Civil Service Exams Set To Follow New Ordinance

Civil Service examinations creating a new position at the Circleville Police Department, locating a chief for the city Fire Department, and shoring up competitive positions in the water and sewer departments have been scheduled Monday, May 19.

The Circleville Municipal Civil Service Commission will conduct the testing at 7 p.m. in city council chambers.

Examinations will be given for police patrolmen, a Captain of the police department, Fire Chief, sewage treatment plant operator, water treatment plant operator, and distribution maintenance personnel for the water department.

Applications may be obtained at the Office of the Commission in the city building or from any commission member. They must be returned no later than 4 p.m., Friday, May 16.

The Police Department will be attempting to add five qualified patrolmen to its ranks to attain its

Strike Hits Newton Falls

NEWTON FALLS, Ohio (AP) — The 32-member city work force, including police, walked off the job today in a dispute over wage negotiations, City Manager William Craig said.

Volunteer firemen weren't involved. Craig said the city offered an eight per cent wage increase in talks Wednesday night but that the members of Local 506A of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees began calling in sick at midnight and the strike was on.

Craig called the walkout an illegal strike prohibited by the contract that includes a clause providing reopening of wage negotiations.

Heath To Conduct Symphony Orchestra

BONN, Germany (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Edward Heath will make his foreign debut as an orchestra conductor this weekend.

During a performance by the London Symphony Orchestra, Heath will conduct one of the works on a program to be performed in Cologne on Friday and here on Saturday, according to organizers of a concert tour.

Funds Distributed

Pickaway County will receive $12,500 in the April distribution of $5,276,159.81 in Local Government Fund money, according to State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

Under the Local Government Fund formula, the county receives eleven-twelfths of the amount while the municipalities receives the remaining one-twelfth.

quota of 13 uniformed patrolmen. Starting salary for patrolmen is $8,008 per year for a 40-hour work week with time and a half benefits for additional hours.

Persons wishing to complete the examination for patrolman must be a resident, of the State of Ohio for at least six months, must be between the ages of 21 and 36, and must be in good physical condition.

Persons who successfully pass the examination must submit to a physical examination, must live within the city limits or in a 10-mile radius of Circleville, and must have a high school diploma or its equivalent.

To qualify as a patrolman, persons must have vision of no less than 20-30 in one eye with at least 20-50 in the other, both correctable to 20-20 with either glasses or contact lenses.

Persons applying for patrolmen positions are eligible to receive an additional credit of 20 per cent on the examination if a passing score is obtained and if they have been honorably discharged from the U.S. Armed Forces.

The Captaincy position with the police department is new. Persons eligible have to hold the rank of sergeant.

The Police Department currently has four men eligible to take the examination, Larry Pontious, Leroy Hawks, Jerry Smallwood, and Wes Barton.

The examination will leave the department with a chief, a captain, three sergeants, and 13 patrolmen.

Three lieutenants at the Circleville Fire Department are eligible to take the examination for chief. The department currently has four lieutenants, but one does not meet the time requirement of one year.

Those eligible are acting chief Glen Jones, Mike Brown and Ron Sowers.

Under a new city ordinance, the department will be revamped to include a chief, a captain, and three lieutenants. However, the captain's examination cannot be given at the same time as the test for chief.

When the captain's post is filled, Acting Chief Jones said the department has a qualified man ready to move into the vacant lieutenant's post.

The department is fairly stable with regards to firemen. They are operating at full quota with an eligibility list.

The examinations for the water and sewer positions will mean that the current provisional appointment list could be abolished in favor of a certified eligibility list.

The jobs, based on a 40-hour work week with time and a half for overtime, pay yearly wages of $7,975 for sewage plant operator; $7,649 for water plant operator; and $7,649 for distribution maintenance personnel.

Officers of the civil service commission are George Young, chairman; James B. Bailey, vice-chairman; and V. L. Hawkes, secretary.

The $2999* rabbit.

We just pulled a rabbit out of a hat:
A new sub-compact car that goes 93 mph (we strongly suggest you obey all speed limits) and has the power for incredible acceleration. Scoots from 0 to 50 in just 8.2 seconds. Yet it gets 38 mpg on the highway and 24 in the city according to the '75 model Federal EPA tests!

Yessir! And you get a hatchback, front-wheel drive, VW's unique rear stabilizer axle and the Volkswagen Owner's Security Blanket with Computer Analysis.

All this for an amazingly low $2999. The new VW Rabbit means happy days are here again. And that's no illusion.

PLANT BIOGRAPHY

In the summer of 1950 Lincoln Plastic Corporation moved to Circleville from Cambridge, Ohio. Lincoln was a custom injection molding plant servicing some 50 customers. The primary product produced at this time was plastic wall tile. Over the years plastic products progressed from tile to refrigeration parts of very small size, novelty items, glasses, etc. Parts weighing from 4 ounces to 40 ounces.

The company was purchased January 1, 1957 by General American Transportation Corporation and continued to grow. At this time the products started to grow in size also, air conditioner fronts, automobile parts, larger refrigeration parts. Parts were weighing from 4 ounces to 150 ounces. Along with these changes we also had a name change to Lincoln Molded Plastics, Inc., Subsidiary of General American Transportation Corporation.

On March 1, 1968 the company was purchased by U.S.S. Chemicals, Division of United States Steel Corporation. Growth in the plastics industry and growth in part size continued. Dash panels for automobiles, shutters, chair backs, washer tubs, air conditioner fronts, refrigeration parts, clothes hampers, waste baskets, and mirror frames became standard products. These products weigh from 20 ounces to 300 ounces. With this purchase of the company we became U.S.S. Chemicals, Molded Plastic Products, Division of United States Steel Corporation.

In the summer of 1950 we employed 50 people. Today we employ approximately 200 people.

One of the major changes that has created the increased business and personnel within the U.S.S. Chemicals Circleville Plant has been our introduction into the proprietary marketing of structural polystyrene exterior shutters, and this shutter program was designed and is manufactured, and finished by Circleville Plant personnel and has found extremely wide acceptance in the home building industry. Our differentiation between our custom molding and proprietary manufacturing is simply explained thusly — custom manufacturing is the type products where our customers design and own the production molds and U.S.S. Chemicals, Molded Plastic Products performs an injection molding service; proprietary marketing and production conversely is manufacturing of items from designs and molds which have been constructed by U.S.S. Chemicals and sold by U.S.S. Chemicals, Molded Plastic Products marketing organization.

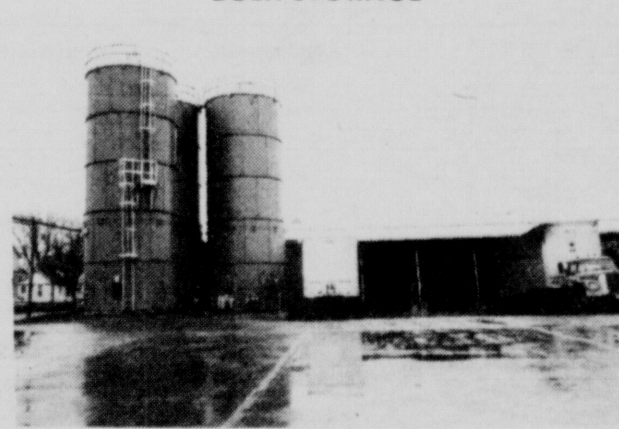

As recently as 1972 U.S.S. Chemicals, Molded Plastic Products has set up corporate headquarters with our parent company, United States Steel Corporation, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In the spring of 1974, as a part of U.S. Steel Corporation's decentralization program, the operation located in Circleville, Ohio became a district operation. Within the confines of the district concept Molded Plastic Products, Circleville, Ohio has total product responsibility for both custom and proprietary development and manufacturing. As an independent profit center the Circleville District operation in turn reports to the U.S. Steel headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In the summer of 1950 we employed 50 people. Today we employ approximately 200 people.

One of the major changes that has created the increased business and personnel within the U.S.S. Chemicals Circleville Plant has been our introduction into the proprietary marketing of structural polystyrene exterior shutters, and this shutter program was designed and is manufactured, and finished by Circleville Plant personnel and has found extremely wide acceptance in the home building industry. Our differentiation between our custom molding and proprietary manufacturing is simply explained thusly — custom manufacturing is the type products where our customers design and own the production molds and U.S.S. Chemicals, Molded Plastic Products performs an injection molding service; proprietary marketing and production conversely is manufacturing of items from designs and molds which have been constructed by U.S.S. Chemicals and sold by U.S.S. Chemicals, Molded Plastic Products marketing organization.

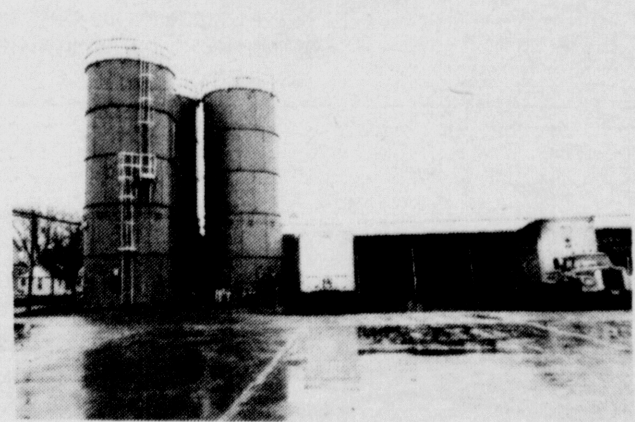

As recently as 1972 U.S.S. Chemicals, Molded Plastic Products has set up corporate headquarters with our parent company, United States Steel Corporation, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In the spring of 1974, as a part of U.S. Steel Corporation's decentralization program, the operation located in Circleville, Ohio became a district operation. Within the confines of the district concept Molded Plastic Products, Circleville, Ohio has total product responsibility for both custom and proprietary development and manufacturing. As an independent profit center the Circleville District operation in turn reports to the U.S. Steel headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

HINTS FOR WISE MEAT SHOPPING

You can save money by buying meat wisely so that you get full value for your meat dollar — while you make sure that your family is getting the nutrition they need. Try these tips:

— Buy according to the number of servings you need. (A serving equals 3 oz. lean meat.) Compare both price and yield. It takes 1-lb. spareribs to make a serving, while 1-lb. of a boneless cut produces four or more servings.

— Slice meat before bringing it to the table. Serve only the amount your family will eat.

— Plan at least two meals from the same cut. Use leftovers in dollar-stretching casseroles and salads.

— Lower grades of beef have the same protein value and vitamin content as top grades.

— Be a gourmet while you're saving money. Try chicken livers, beef liver, tongue or heart — high in protein and iron.

— Ground beef is just as nutritious as other meats, but costs less per serving. For extra savings and good nutrition, use the ground beef-soy protein mixture.

(These are just a few of the supermarket shopping suggestions you'll find in a new Kroger consumer information booklet called "100 Wise Ways To Be A Better Shopper." For your free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed long (No. 10) envelope to Consumer Affairs, The Kroger Co., 1014 Vine Street, Cincinnati, Ohio 45201.)

Eat well . . . and save!

HINTS FOR WISE MEAT SHOPPING

You can save money by buying meat wisely so that you get full value for your meat dollar — while you make sure that your family is getting the nutrition they need. Try these tips:

— Buy according to the number of servings you need. (A serving equals 3 oz. lean meat.) Compare both price and yield. It takes 1-lb. spareribs to make a serving, while 1-lb. of a boneless cut produces four or more servings.

— Slice meat before bringing it to the table. Serve only the amount your family will eat.

— Plan at least two meals from the same cut. Use leftovers in dollar-stretching casseroles and salads.

— Lower grades of beef have the same protein value and vitamin content as top grades.

— Be a gourmet while you're saving money. Try chicken livers, beef liver, tongue or heart — high in protein and iron.

— Ground beef is just as nutritious as other meats, but costs less per serving. For extra savings and good nutrition, use the ground beef-soy protein mixture.
